MISSING JACKSON A U. R. EMPLOYEE, SAYS M'DANIEL

Circuit Attorney Convinced
Man Now a Fugitive Had Worked Under Direction of High Official.

VIEW BASED ON GRAND JURY INQUIRY

Nothing to Show He Was Employed to Crack Safe,
However, and Take Referendum Petitions.

Circuit Attorney McDaniel today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the grand jury investigation of the theft of petitions for a referendum vote on the United Railways franchise ordinance has convinced him that J. C. Jackson of 1007A Pine street, now a fugitive, was in the employ of the United Railways Co. and in communication with and working under the direction of one of its high officials.

"We don't need any further testimony on that point," McDaniel said. "We have established beyond any doubt that Jackson was an employee of the United Railways Co. and was in communication with and working under the direction of a high official of the company."

"We found sufficient evidence in Jackson's safety deposit box at the Night and Day Bank and in his trunk to establish his connection with the company. There is nothing to show, however, that the company employed him for the safe-cracking job."

McDaniel's comment. The Circuit Attorney's statement was read to President McCulloch of the United Railways by a Post-Dispatch reporter, and he replied:

"I repeat what I have said before, we would be glad to give the Circuit Attorney any information he asks for. I do not care to say more about this situation."

Circuit Attorney McDaniel today will take a transcript of the grand jury evidence against Jackson and present it to the United States District Attorney with a view to its use by the Federal grand jury in finding an indictment against Jackson for representing himself to be a United States Government officer.

William R. Petty, negro jagitor of the building containing the Referendum League office, who has admitted complicity in the safe opening, and Frederick C. Pickler, who installed a dictaphone for Jackson, have testified that Jackson told them he was a Government officer.

The robbery was committed on the morning of June 15, and Jackson is still at large. He has been indicted by the grand jury. Edgar C. Kerwin, a locksmith, and William Ems, a paperhanger, who have confessed that they opened the safe for Jackson, also have been indicted.

Gave Up Honeymoon Trip. McDaniel said Jackson is still being sought and that his office is making every effort in co-operation with the detective department to locate Jackson. McDaniel pointed out that he had given up his honeymoon trip after purchasing transportation, to stay with the investigation.

The Circuit Attorney said the investigation was of such nature that it would be imprudent at present to reveal all the evidence that has been presented against Jackson and his connections with the United Railways Co. Jackson, he added, is the key to the situation and would complete the investigation.

U. R. Board Condemns Theft of Referendum Petitions. A resolution condemning the theft of petitions for a referendum vote of the United Railways franchise ordinance, which were taken from a safe in the Cigar Makers' Union headquarters, 615 Chestnut street, June 15, was passed at a meeting of the board of directors of the United Railways Co. yesterday. The purpose of the theft, if it was to prevent vote on the ordinance, was defeated, as enough names were later obtained to additional petitions to invoke the referendum.

The text of the resolution follows: "Resolved, That the act of the person or persons who robbed the safe of the referendum petitions is hereby deprecated and condemned, and this company pledges itself to heartily co-operate with the authorities of St. Louis in all efforts to discover those guilty of this criminal act, and to secure their conviction and punishment."

"It is not, and never has been, the desire of this company to secure and accept any arrangement with the city, which was not just and equitable, and which did not meet with the approval of the citizens of St. Louis. We realize that no permanent success can be achieved unless there is a friendly public sentiment for the company. The ordinance finally passed by the board of Aldermen was most intelligently and with great

ARLIE LATHAM IS TEACHING KING GEORGE TO PITCH

England's Ruler Learning to Throw Baseball for Game on July 4.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 26.—King George is learning to throw a baseball in preparation for his appearance at the game between American teams July 4, when he will pitch out the first ball.

At the request of the King, Arlie Latham, a former big league player, who will umpire the game, sent the King a regulation baseball a few days ago. The next day Latham called at the palace and gave the King a brief lesson as to how it should be handled. The proper form in pitching was rather hard for the King to get, as he is used to a different type of throw, as in cricket, but the royal student finally began to get something approaching the right swing. Since then the King has been practicing in spare moments on a blank wall in the garden.

During his visit to the Eagle Y. M. C. A. hut yesterday the King mentioned his efforts to master the game and expressed hope that he would be able to throw out the ball in a manner to win the approval of the American rooters.

The country has been divided into 11 districts. St. Louis is in the Eighth District, the headquarters of which is Chicago.

Keany, since the start of the war, has been detailed by the Police Department to work on disloyalty and espionage cases and his progress attracted the attention of War Department officials.

"MY STARS," SAYS JUDGE MORRIS, AND STARTS ON DOCKET

St. Paul Judge, Here to Dispose of Espionage Cases,
Announces All Must Be Ready When Turns Come.

"WILL GET AS MUCH DONE AS POSSIBLE"

Harry Turner's Case Is Called, and Attorney Says
Settlement May Be Effected Without Trial.

Judge Page Morris of St. Paul, sent here to clear the docket of the United States District Court, particularly of disloyalty cases, made an energetic start this morning. His first definite ruling was to overrule the demurrer to the indictment against Mrs. Mary Savonsky, who is charged with having told the wife of a drafted man that the man need not go to war. The demurrer charged defects in the indictment.

"My stars," was the Judge's comment, as he overruled the demurrer. "I believe, indeed, I am certain," added the former Premier, "that the Russian people will shortly join you in the fight for the great cause of freedom."

"I have just come straight from Moscow and it is my duty as a statesman and a Socialist to tell you and the people of this world that the Russian people, the Russian democracy, are fighting against tyranny," said Kerensky.

Kerensky reached London incognito four days ago. Since then he has been moving about quietly, though busily, conferring with prominent Russians in England over the necessity of Entente allied assistance in Russia.

Kerensky expects to go to America in a week or 10 days. Kerensky's whereabouts have been a mystery since the successful Leningrad revolution last fall.

KING GEORGE AND QUEEN EAT 'BUCKWHEATS' AT Y. M. C. A. HUT

Sit Down to Oilcloth-Covered Table on Surprise Visit and Pronounce American Dish Satisfactory.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 26.—King George and Queen Mary tasted American buckwheat cakes for the first time yesterday at the Eagle Hut of the American Y. M. C. A. The visit was unexpected. The King and Queen stepped into the big entrance hall, crowded with American, Canadian and British soldiers and sailors, eating, playing billiards and writing letters.

"You have good things to eat," said the King, smiling toward the tables where a row of Americans were devouring sandwiches and pan-cakes.

"What is the most distinctive American dish you have here?" he asked. "I want to sample it."

The Y. M. C. A. secretary promptly answered: "Buckwheat cakes." The King and Queen sat down at an oilcloth-covered table beside a group of khaki-clad American aviators and a couple of American blue-jackets. Each ate a plate of hot buckwheat cakes, with a generous covering of maple syrup. Both finished their portions, politely refused a second helping, but declared themselves in favor of the adoption of buckwheat cakes into the British menu.

SAYS U. S. AIRPLANE ENGINE HAS STOOD TESTS IN EUROPE

"Valuable Contribution to Allied Resources," Secretary of British Air Ministry Declares.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 26.—Tests which recently have been applied in France and this country to the latest American engine have justified the prediction that it would prove a most valuable contribution to allied resources and the United States can go ahead and push its production with every confidence.

These are the words of Sir William Weir, the new Secretary of the Air Ministry, who presided at the Wilbur Wright lecture delivered by Dr. Durand, scientific attaché of the American embassy, in the central hall at Westminster, Tuesday evening.

Fair and cooler tonight, tomorrow and Friday.

KERENSKY IS IN LONDON ON HIS WAY TO AMERICA

Former Premier Says He Believes Russians "Soon Will Join in Fight for Freedom."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 26.—Alexander Kerensky, former Provisional Premier of Russia, has arrived in London.

Former Premier Kerensky is on his way to America. Ex-Premier Kerensky has been in London for several days. He has kept in retirement, however, and few Russians have been aware of his arrival. His health is bad and those who have seen him say he has gone through remarkable adventures in escaping from Russia and in his journey to England.

Kerensky was introduced to the British labor conference here this afternoon and was received by the delegates with loud cheers.

"I believe, indeed, I am certain," added the former Premier, "that the Russian people will shortly join you in the fight for the great cause of freedom."

"I have just come straight from Moscow and it is my duty as a statesman and a Socialist to tell you and the people of this world that the Russian people, the Russian democracy, are fighting against tyranny," said Kerensky.

Kerensky expects to go to America in a week or 10 days. Kerensky's whereabouts have been a mystery since the successful Leningrad revolution last fall.

OUR MEN AGAIN ATTACK GERMANS ON MARNE FRONT

NEW FORCE DISLODGED
FROM BELLEAU WOOD

Number of Machine Guns
Taken, With Other Booty, and Captives Still Are Coming In.

By the Associated Press.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, June 26.—In an attack upon the German lines on the Marne front last night the American troops extended their line northwest of Belleau Wood. Up to 10 o'clock this morning 216 prisoners had been counted, together with a number of machine guns and other booty. Additional prisoners are coming in.

The attack was preceded by a 13-hour bombardment from the American artillery.

German prisoners taken pay tribute to the brilliant dash of the Americans in the assaulting party.

The Germans were virtually cleared out of Belleau Wood several days ago. The discovery was made yesterday that under cover of darkness they had planted machine guns behind huge boulders in sunken roadways, in shell holes and in trees in a narrow area on the edge of the wood. It was most difficult to get at them in these positions, and some fierce hand-to-hand fighting occurred during the night while the clearing process was being carried out.

The Americans now are in possession of virtually all the valuable tactical positions in the Belleau Wood sector. Most of the prisoners taken belong to the 347th German division.

On Sunday the Germans placed the crack 201st Division opposite a portion of the American line. Despite this, the Americans went through in steam roller fashion.

The Germans also had attempted on Saturday to fill the wood with gas, but the discovery was made yesterday that the gas was not taken as an inferno under the American fire. They were happy to get out alive.

Nearly 1,000,000 Americans in France,
Another 1,000,000 in Camp Here,
Third 1,000,000 Soon to Be Called

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The United States today observes the first anniversary of the landing on French soil of American troops.

Twelve months ago today the first American division debarked at a French port.

A year has seen the division grow to a fighting force of 900,000 men, which officials here are confident will reach 1,000,000 men within a very few weeks.

Of this number, according to estimates made yesterday by Secretary Baker, 650,000 are fighting men and 250,000 non-combatants. Thirty-nine miles of front are being held by American troops. Behind the approximate million in France or en route there, another million men are in camps equipped and eager to move. Calls issued under the selective draft law will soon add a third million.

Twelve months have thus witnessed the transportation to France over 3,000 miles of ocean infested with German submarines sufficient for transports to force the substance of the first field army of 18 infantry divisions should Gen. Pershing choose to assemble his forces into a single fighting unit.

The first anniversary found American troops facing the Germans on six different sectors, including portions of the front in Picardy, in Flanders, on the Marne in Alsace and on the original Toul sector at the right of the French line. While operations of the Germans have made it necessary to draw the American troops away from their first assigned front in the region of Toul, the plan for America as worked out by the Allied Supreme War Council, as recent events disclose, calls for the taking over of the entire right flank of the western front with the French in the center and the British on the left.

Besides traversing 3,000 miles of sea between the United States and the ports through which her armies and supplies must reach the front, the Americans have had to prepare more than 600 miles of railway. Never in history has such an enterprise been attempted.

SHIPPING IS WARNED OF RAIDER'S PRESENCE

Navy Department Issue Announcement to Protect Vessels in Area Outlined.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Shipping operating in the area east of longitude 40, between latitude of Cape Race and Bermuda, has been warned of enemy activity, the Navy Department today announced.

The Government on yesterday evening issued a warning to shipping operating in the area east of longitude 40, between latitude of Cape Race and Bermuda, said the announcement.

No explanation was given, but a report of a German raider in that vicinity was brought to an American port yesterday by an incoming steamer. Longitude 40 would be about 800 miles west of the Azores.

Section B—For our troops in the Chateau Thierry, the region 24 hours before noon, June 26, to noon, June 21, were quiet as compared with the many days of activity which they have recently experienced. The German artillery continued to shell both our front lines and rear areas, distributing its fire rather impartially over the sector. The Clerbaults and Mallets woods, Lucy Le Bocage, Triangle Farm, Lethicet and Boureches all received their share. So did the Paris road on our other principal lines of communication, but the number of shells used was moderate for this locality and most of them were of small or medium caliber.

The fire was of various sorts, some of the harassing sort directed against our billets in rear areas at intervals during the day and night and some for the obvious purpose of cutting our communications. As usual, some of the lower and wooded areas were shelled with gas, but high explosives and shrapnel were frequently used. The German machine guns were active against our lines, especially in the vicinity of Boureches, and snipers were active near the edges of the Bois de Belleau and around the Boureches railroad station.

The raiders made no effort to attack at least two vessels which sighted her led the captains to believe that she is a "mother ship" for submarines which recently were operating off the Atlantic coast.

The raider was described by the ship, captains as about 270 feet long, with a speed estimated at from 15 to 20 knots an hour. Some of those who sighted the craft expressed the belief she was a former fruit steamer, or possibly a freighter, operating between the United States and Central America, which had been captured and armed by one of the submarines operating off the coast.

about 1100 officers, have been taken, the statement adds.

The communication reads:

"In the Montello region and south of it, the enemy is feeling his way to the Plave with patrols. In the San Dona di Plave district covering troops, which are protecting the crossing of our divisions, have had to ward off strong attacks during the last few days. Here also we have been able to carry out our movement in accordance with plans and without loss of material."

"Since June 15 the Italians have lost more than 50,000 prisoners, including about 1100 officers. The total losses of the enemy at the lowest estimate amount to 150,000 men."

"Yesterday the mountain front between the Asiago plateau and the Plave again was the theater of violent battles. The enemy did his utmost to recapture the hill positions lost June 15. During the greater part of the day there was bitter fighting on Monte di Val Bella, the Col del Rosso, Asolone, Solopio and Montepertica."

"The Italians were thrown back everywhere, at several places by counter-attacks."

AMERICAN TROOPS IN ITALY IN JULY, ITALIANS ARE TOLD

Announcement in Rome by New York State Senate on Official Mission.

ROME, June 26.—American troops will be in Italy probably early in July, according to notification given to the Italian authorities by State Senator Cottino of New York, who is here on an official mission. This announcement of direct participation of American units with the forces now fighting in Italy has produced an encouraging effect.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Announcement that American troops were to be sent to Italy was made recently by Secretary Baker, but the plans regarding the expedition have not been made public. So far as known, it has not been determined whether a force would be sent direct from the United States or from the expeditionary forces in France. The expedition would be more to effect unity in arms on all fronts than to reinforce the Italians, and a small force probably will be sent.

ALLIES NEARER ADOPTION OF U. S. POLICY IN RUSSIA

Peaceful Intervention Idea Said to Be Strengthened by Stand of Japanese Diplomats.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Peaceful intervention in Russia advocated by the United States seems nearer adoption as the policy of the Allies today as the result of the unofficial announcement at Tokyo of a decision of the Japanese Diplomatic Advisory Board against military action. Officials here were highly gratified that the decision of Japan and pointed out that it would do much to restore confidence in the allies among the Russians.

The policy of the United States as intimated at various times and which it now appears is rapidly gaining favor in diplomatic circles of the other allied Governments provides for the assisting of Russia in a material and economic way which would enable her to regain a position among the world powers. Every means will be utilized, it is believed, to aid the Russian people in establishing a permanent form of government coupled with the assistance of the allies in freeing the country of German influence.

WEEKS EXPECTED TO GIVE UP JOB IN FEW DAYS

Will Give Up Place as Commissioner of Weights and Measures.

The retirement of Henry L. (Hank) Weeks from the $2000-a-year position of Commissioner of Weights and Measures is expected to take place within a few days, as the result of the decision of City Council Dues that, as an enemy alien, Hank is not eligible for the place. It has developed in the last few days that Hank, a native of Germany, was never naturalized, and that his father's naturalization was obtained after Hank was of age.

Weeks registered at the United States Marshal's office yesterday as an enemy alien, and his finger prints were taken, with other identifying data. ## AUSTRIANS LOST HEAVILY IN RETREAT ACROSS PIAVE

Italian Artillery and Machine Guns Mowed Down Soldiers When They Reached East Bank of River.

By the Associated Press.

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTHERN ITALY June 26.—Under the fire of Italian machine guns and artillery which were brought up rapidly the Austrian withdrawal across the Piave soon became a disordered rout. It is estimated the Austrian losses total more than 200,000.

It was a terrible sight as the maddened Austrians fled under the deluge of Italian bullets and shells. They leaped into the river and grabbed pieces of wood or anything that would aid them; they tied themselves to mules and horses, but their efforts were in vain, for as the enemy troops reached the opposite bank they were again caught by the fire of Italian guns, which had been trained accurately on the eastern bank for some days.

River Carries Bodies Away.

On the Montello the slaughter was terrific. Bodies of Austrian troops were mowed down almost in their entirety. At the crossing at Nervese, both banks of the river were strewn with dead and dying, while hundreds of bodies were carried down in the current to the sea.

At one place the correspondent counted 300 bodies while walking a distance of half a mile. One regiment of covering troops, which originally was composed of more than 2000 men had left Monday but 88 men to the company, and these were prisoners.

Along the lower Piave the Austrians found themselves, if possible, in a worse position, and suffered heavier losses.

A single episode shows how and why the retreat started. On Saturday the Austrian command sent the Ninety-first Schuetzen Brigade, composed of regiments numbers 21 and 32, with orders to widen the Asiatic breach at Lampert and to do this at all hazards. The brigade attempted to carry out this order and fought like wild men, but the Italian pressure was so terrific that they were unable to accomplish their object, which was to succeed in Austrian divisions already surrounded in this section.

care considered by them for many months and at many meetings. This was not done in secret, but the meetings were open to the public, and all interests favoring and opposing the referendum were given free and full hearing.

"We ask the public to dismiss from their minds any prejudice which may have been created because of the foolish and criminal act of those who robbed the safe of the referendum. None deplore this act more than we do, and none more heartily condemn it. It would be a gross injustice to hold the company responsible for this outrageous act of criminals."

"By order of the board of directors."

ZIONISTS BUY STOCK IN FIRST BANK OF NEW JEWISH REPUBLIC

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 26.—Stock to the amount of $175,000 in the Colonial Trust Co. of Palestine, the first bank of the new Jewish Republic, was sold here last night at a session of the Federation of American Zionists Convention. The sale was opened shortly before midnight, when Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York, introducing the stock, called on delegates to subscribe liberally to the "Jewish Liberty Bonds." Within three minutes one-half of the nation's allotment of $350,000 was subscribed.

The present Jewish Legion of 8000 men now fighting with the British for the complete conquest of Palestine, is but the nucleus of a force 10 times as great which will form the national standing army of the coming Jewish Republic, was developed. Every Jew who has enlisted in the legion from the United States has pledged himself to remain in Palestine for the remainder of his life, according to Dr. A. Newman of Philadelphia.

MAJ. HILGARD DIES IN FRANCE

Maj. George E. Hilgard, 41 years old, the first Belleville physician to die in a French hospital on June 13, according to a telegram received last night by Mrs. Laura S. Hilgard, his wife. Maj. Hilgard enlisted in the reserve in May, 1917, shortly after war was declared.

Death was due to a nasal operation, made necessary because of a gas attack Dr. Hilgard suffered while working in a front line dressing station several months ago. Mrs. Hilgard received a letter from a man band dated May 27, in which he said he had virtually recovered and expected to go into active service again. Maj. Hilgard was a Captain in the Spanish-American War and received that rank when he was sent to France last fall. Later he was made a Major.

Besides his wife, who lives at 402 South Illinois street, Maj. Hilgard is survived by three children, Georgia, Ruth and Ernest Hilgard, and a brother, Lieut. B. Waldo Hilgard, now in France with the infantry. Two cousins, Melosh Hilgard and Capt. Harry Hilgard, also are in the service. His father, the late Ernest Hilgard, was an officer in the Civil War.

MAN CONVICTED IN ESPIONAGE CASE GETS 2-YEAR SENTENCE

William Ehrhardt, 45 years old, of 1124 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, who was convicted of a violation of the espionage act in the Federal Court at East St. Louis recently, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth and fined $500 by Judge George W. English this morning after a motion for a new trial was denied. Ehrhardt's son has just completed a sentence in the Federal penitentiary on a charge of violating the Mann act.

Ehrhardt is alleged to have had a picture of the Kaiser in his home, and to have asserted that the Kaiser is a better man than Wilson, and when the war is over, the people of the United States will have to do as the Kaiser says. An appeal will probably be taken.

BAKER AND MARCH OPPOSE EXTENSION OF DRAFT AGE NOW

Secretary and Chief of Staff Tell Senate Committee Action Is Not Necessary at This Time.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Secretary Baker and Gen. March, Chief of Staff, informed the Senate Military Committee today that they opposed as premature and unnecessary the proposed extension of the army draft age limits.

Provost-Marshal General Crowder, whose approval of the extension had been given by the committee, also appeared before the committee to say that while he was not insistent upon immediate legislation, he thought it should be taken in time to obtain new registrants under the revised age limits early next year.

In asking that the draft legislation go over for the present, Secretary Baker and Gen. March said that the middle of August, after the proposed recess of Congress, the administration will submit a new comprehensive army program, covering not only the number of men, but also the change in the Senate, also appeared before the committee to say that while he was not insistent upon immediate legislation, he thought it should be taken in time to obtain new registrants under the revised age limits early next year.

Enlarged Program Planned.

Secretary Baker said an "enlarged" program for the army is planned, in a formal statement made before the committee for nearly three hours with his aids.

"I presented to the committee statements," said Baker, "that for the present there are enough men in Class One and that the enlarged program of the United States is ready for presentation to Congress we will at the same time have complete data on which to base any recommendations for change in the age limits of the draft age."

After the conference with Secretary Baker and his aids the military committee decided to follow his recommendations and to oppose any legislation at this time extending the draft age limits.

When the Senate convened, Senator Chamberlain formally outlined the statement given by Secretary Baker, Gen. March and Major-General Crowder.

"The committee was advised that troops now are being sent over partly in French and British bottoms and that there may be some changes in the arrangement of the draft age limits, but the committee will continue or more American tonnage will be available," said Chamberlain. "They feel that before any change should be made there should be full investigation, before disturbing the social and industrial conditions of the country."

Senator Smoot of Utah asked for Gen. Crowder's views and Senator Chamberlain replied:

"Gen. Crowder was appealed to and substantially stated that it was his duty to carry out the War Department's work and not recommend policies. I think we can all read between the lines of Gen. Crowder's statement, and I think he feels, like I and many other Senators do, that a change in the age limits eventually will have to be made."

"They feel that no delay can be occasioned by waiting two months or so."

Army of 3,300,000 in August.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska gave figures stating that in August, when the fit call on men in class 1 will have exhausted that class, there will be 3,300,000 men in the army and that the highest estimate of the number of American troops which will be in France by that time is 1,450,000.

Secretary Baker, Gen. March and Gen. Crowder, it was stated, all opposed the amendment by Senator Johnson of California, proposing that in future draft calls, states which already have furnished by voluntary enlistments an excess over their quotas should be given credit for such excess. Senator Johnson was satisfied with the statement that the present system without credits is fairest and planned not to press his amendment.

Senator Fall of New Mexico said there is apparently an impression in the minds of some people that it would take more food and ammunition in France for a man who is without dependents than for a man with a wife and five children who has been indicted into military service.

Senator Chamberlain said he was not altogether in favor of all the views of the Secretary of War, adding that he had been told that 2,500,000 men in France with all possible speed.

"Of course, I know there was no reference to the election used," replied Secretary Fall, referring to today's conference.

"If I thought the Secretary of War was small enough and the chief of staff was base enough to oppose this bill, I would not be here," he declared.

Extension of the draft age limits, 21 to 31 years—was discussed at length in the Senate yesterday during consideration of an amendment by Senator Fall of New Mexico, to the $12,000,000 army appropriation bill to substitute 18 years as the minimum and 45 years as the maximum. The Senator revised the amendment, making the ages 20 to 40, and eliminating a provision that youths under 21 should not be called into active military service.

It was freely predicted that Class 1 would be soon exhausted and that unless the age limits are raised there will be a disruption of industry with consequent effect on the war program.

New Draft Call Raises Total for July to 367,961.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—White and negro draft registrants numbering 124,525 were summoned to the colors for general military service in a call issued today by Provost-Marshal-General Crowder. Mobilization will take place at intervals during the month of July, starting with the entrainment of 27,257 white selected men on July 5.

Today's call, combined with that for 220,000 to be mobilized July 22-25, ordered by Gen. Crowder last night, and with various special calls made previously, will bring the civilian life during July a total of 367,961 men, the largest number in any month since the draft became operative.

The call issued today is divided into four sections for entrainment purposes. From July 5 to 9, white registrants numbering 33,259 are to be entrained; from July 15 to 19, whites, 21,255; July 16 to 20, negroes, 45,000; and from July 29 to 31, negroes, 25,011.

Although the order issued last night for 220,000 men probably will deplete the present available in Class One in most of the draft districts, it was pointed out that the bulk of the men called for July will not go to camp until after the middle of the month, and by that time it is expected the additions gained by re-classification and by the registration of 21-year-old youths will be available.

YEAR'S SERVICE STRIPE FOR 500 U. S. SOLDIERS

PARIS, June 26.

TWO gold service stripes indicating a whole year's service in the zone of the advance of the allied armies are now being worn on the left arm by nearly 500 American soldiers. There include members of the Cleveland base hospital unit, the Great American unit to land; the Harvard Base Hospital Unit and the officers and the men arriving here at the time of Gen. Pershing's embarkation, June 13, 1917. The Cleveland unit landed in France on May 25, 1917, and the Harvard unit eight days later.

2 ST. LOUISANS WITH MARINES ARE KILLED

Privates John E. Saunders and Walter E. Swenson, Die—Captain Is Missing.

Privates John E. Saunders, 22 years old, of 6052 Horton place, and Walter E. Swenson, 21 years old, of 4044 Hartford street, members of the United States Marine Corps fighting in France, have been killed in action and Capt. Arthur H. Sewing, 30 years old, of 2349 St. Louis avenue, member of the Medical Reserve Corps, attached to a British regiment, is reported missing in action since May 27, according to today's casualty list issued at Washington.

The deaths of the two marine corps members bring the total number of St. Louisans killed in action in France since the United States entered the war, to 17. Capt. Sewing is the third local physician to be reported missing in action.

The other two physicians were Capt. John F. Hardesty, 30 years old, of 2206 California avenue, and Lieut. Harold A. Goodrich, 29 years old, of Webster Groves, both of whom were reported missing in May and later located by the Red Cross in German prisoner camps. Both doctors were attached to British forces.

Capt. Sewing enlisted in the Medical Reserve Corps in April, 1917, a few weeks after war was declared and after being assigned to the Surgeon-General's office at Washington, left for France the latter part of July. He married Miss Rachel Rees of St. Louis about two months before he sailed. From July until Jan. 1, Capt. Sewing was attached to a base hospital in London. He was then made regimental surgeon of the Eighth Durham Light Infantry, and departed for the western front where he has been continuously since his appointment.

His wife is visiting friends in Seattle, Wash., and his sister, Miss Elmyra Sewing of the St. Louis avenue address, yesterday was notified by the War Department that the physician had been missing since May 27. Two letters were received from Capt. Sewing Monday by his sister. The letters were dated May 25, and in one the physician told of sitting in a front line dressing station and reading a copy of the Post-Dispatch. Capt. Sewing was graduated from Washington University Medical School in 1909 and from then until 1924 was resident surgeon at the city hospital. His office was at Grand and Sullivan avenues.

Mrs. Sophie Swenson, mother of Private Swenson, received a telegram last midnight from the Adjutant of the Marine Corps at Washington, notifying her of the death of her son.

Swenson was a private in the Eighty-third Company, Sixth Regiment, Marine Corps, and enlisted in St. Louis May 14, 1917. Previous to his departure for France, late in October, he spent a 10 days furlough with his mother. A recent letter written by Swenson to his mother contained the following paragraph:

"Will we win? Will a canary sing? If I have to cash in I sure will take a few huns with me."

Swenson was a spice tester for the Cater, Mavy & Co., 409 North Main street, before he enlisted.

Private Saunders was a member of the same company and regiment of the Marine Corps as Swenson and enlisted on May 7, 1917. After undergoing training at Paris Island Training Station in South Carolina he left for France early in October.

Anthony L. Saunders, the soldier's father, was informed of the death of his son in a telegram received from the War Department last night. The message said Saunders had been killed June 6. The last letter received from the young man reached his mother on Mothers' Day, May 12.

James W. Saunders, a brother of John, is in the United States Navy, having enlisted in St. Louis the same day his brother joined the marines. Saunders was employed in the office of the Wagner Electric Manufacturing Co. before he enlisted.

REFeree'S REPORT CONFIRMED IN NEW CATHEDRAL LIEN CASE

Action Was by Roofing Tile Company for "Reasonable Value" of Materials Contractors Used.

The report of Referee Hugo Muench in the mechanic's lien case of the Mound City Roofing Tile Co. against the contracting firm of J. C. Robinson & Co. for tile used in the roof of the new Cathedral at Lindell and Newstead avenues, was confirmed yesterday by Circuit Judge Klen.

The lien amounting to $12,904.14 was adjudged against the Cathedral property.

The suit was for reasonable value of the tile furnished. The contract price between the tile company and the Robinson firm, which had the contract for erecting the Cathedral, was more than $3000 less than the amount finally claimed by the plaintiff, and the referee's ruling required the plaintiff to adhere to the contract figures.

The plaintiff asserted that the contract had been given up by it because it was having a hard time to furnish the kind of tile that would suit the architect.

The defense that the tile did not comply with specifications was overruled. Referee Muench said that the work was accepted by the architect, who, the evidence showed, had been diligent in seeing to it that all the work was done according to specifications.

In approving the report Judge Klen overruled exceptions filed by both sides. He allowed the referee $2000 for his services.

It is understood that the money to satisfy the judgment is available, and the matter will be adjusted as soon as the case has been finally adjudicated.

WILFLEY MEN IN CONFERENCE LAUD HIS AMERICANISM

Senator's Friends Adopt Resolutions, but Fail to Mention His "Peace Message" to President.

Supporters of Senator Xenophon P. Wilfley, at a meeting at the Planters Hotel yesterday, hurriedly called to take action to counteract the effect of the publicity given to Wilfley's action in signing the "peace" petition to President Wilson in March, 1917, adopted resolutions proclaiming the Americanism of the candidate, but not mentioning the peace message.

The meeting was called by James E. Boggs of Columbia, Wilfley's campaign manager, and the leaders were Sam B. Cook of Jefferson City and Representative Frank H. Farris of Rolla, who have been pronounced anti-Folk men since 1903, and the fight made by Folk for the office of Governor in 1904.

Among those present were several appointees of Gov. Gardner. St. Louis papers denounced the St. Louis newspapers, and declared that the Democrats out in Missouri would not be influenced by them.

The resolution included several paragraphs of praise of Wilfley, and concluded:

"We heartily approve the action of President Wilson in the infinite patience with which he labored to preserve an honorable peace for America. We uncompromisingly stand with President Wilson in his vigorous prosecution of this war and his unalterable purpose to fight it to a victorious conclusion and impose upon Germany an American peace that will forever rid the world of militarism."

"We call attention to the fact that while a private citizen Senator Wilfley is in perfect accord with the President in his efforts to maintain an honorable peace, that when honorable peace was no longer possible, that with President Wilson, Senator Wilfley was and now is for a vigorous prosecution of the war, and lent his time and energies and has continuously lent his time and energies to that end."

His Work on Draft Plan.

"When Congress, following the lead of President Wilson, passed the selective draft law, Senator Wilfley aid such as his private business and with others, worked out for the City of St. Louis the organization necessary to make that law effective."

"When the Government found need to appeal to the people for the country for financial support for the war, Senator Wilfley placed his services at the disposal of the Liberty loan organization of Missouri and, at his own expense, went to the people of this State to enlist their financial support for the Government."

"In view of these facts, we earnestly and confidently ask the Democrats of Missouri to give Senator Wilfley their loyal and unstinted support, with the absolute assurance that he will stand with President Wilson in his every effort to a complete and successful termination of this war."

Those in attendance were: W. S. Stubblefield, Cape Girardeau; W. E. Jameison, Fulton; Claude F. Kidwell, Montgomery County; John E. Busch and John T. Williams, Franklin; W. M. Farrell, Monroe; J. V. White and Joseph Kirby, Randolph; William Daly and Maurice Cronin, St. Louis County; Ross Pearson, Pike County; Abe Stephens, Lincoln County; A. H. Whitney, Audrain County; Sam B. Cook, Cole County; Frank H. Farris and Tim Birmingham, Phelps County; John L. Marshall, Iron County; John E. Busch, Reynolds County; William Reardon, St. Francois; Judge P. H. Huck and Judge Thomas Straughn, Ste. Genevieve County; Matthew J. Conran, New Madrid; Col. George M. Sutherland, Stoddard County; J. J. Dinmitt, Shelby; James E. Boggs, Boone County; Col. C. L. Wood, Rolla; Hamp Rothwell, James Hagerman Jr., Earl Nelson, W. C. Connett and John P. Leahy of St. Louis.

The resolutions were prepared by Sam B. Cook, former Secretary of State, who was defeated for re-election in 1904, when the Folk reform wave resulted in the election of a Republican State ticket, with the exception of Folk for Governor. Representative Farris from Phelps County, and former State Senator, who always has been identified with the "old guard" interests in Democratic politics; A. H. Whitney of Mexico, a bookkeeper in the State Auditor's office during the administration of John P. Gordon; Earl Nelson, a law partner of Senator Wilfley, and former State Insurance Actuary during the administration of Gov. Major; W. S. Stubblefield, a banker in Cape Girardeau, and the only member of the prohibition movement in the State; Thomas Wagner, a St. Louis lawyer; Ross Pearson, a Pike County lawyer, and H. K. Givens of Fayette.

Senator Wilfley passed through St. Louis this morning on his way to Southwest Missouri, where he has been on a speaking tour, to Washington. He had expected to speak in Springfield last night, but was delayed in reaching there and his speaking date was canceled.

Wilfley said he had campaigned Southwest Missouri, which he described as the "Folk stronghold," and said that he was convinced he would carry that section of the State.

HOW TO FIND LIABILITIES IN NEW DRAWING

Serial Numbers Assigned to Men Who Registered for Draft June 5 Will Provide Key.

The serial numbers assigned to the men who registered for the National army June 5, last, having become 21 years old since the first registration a year before, will provide the key by which the drawing at Washington tomorrow will determine the order of liability for service of these men, some of whom are expected to be called before the end of the summer.

The serial numbers run from one to the number of registrants in the total number enrolled: 1 by that registration in each ward or district. Thus, in the Twenty-eighth Ward 208 men were enrolled and consequently the serial numbers run from 1 to 208. The numbers were assigned as nearly as possible in the order in which the men registered.

1200 Numbers to Be Drawn. It has been announced that about 1200 numbers will be drawn in Washington, that number exceeding the highest number enrolled in any district in the United States. Any man will be able to determine the order of his liability in his own district by using the table showing the order in which the 1200 numbers are drawn. He will strike out from the table all numbers higher than the highest number in his own district until he reaches his own serial number. Thus a man registered in the Twenty-eighth Ward should strike out all numbers higher than 208. By counting the numbers that are left until he reaches his own serial number he will ascertain the numerical order in which he will be primarily liable.

His liability, of course, may be further affected by the classification to be made later by the boards. This Class 1 men of the new registration order when Class 1 of the first registration is exhausted, which is expected to be within a month or two. Men of the new registration who are placed in deferred classes will not be subject to call until their respective classes of the first registration have been exhausted.

For the convenience of registrants in applying the key to their own cases, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch has prepared a table showing the order in which the number of men enrolled at the last registration in each of the St. Louis wards and St. Louis County districts, the number in each case representing the highest number enrolled in a district, and the serial number of a registrant in that particular district should strike out all other numbers. Some changes in this application may be caused by the addition of late registrants in the wards, but these would be negligible.

As reported at present the high numbers are as follows:

First Ward.....200

Second Ward.....149

Third Ward.....150

Fourth Ward.....157

Fifth Ward.....150

Sixth Ward.....206

Seventh Ward.....162

Eighth Ward.....136

Ninth Ward.....163

Tenth Ward.....213

Eleventh Ward.....208

Twelfth Ward.....215

Thirteenth Ward.....200

Fourteenth Ward.....200

Fifteenth Ward.....169

Sixteenth Ward.....189

Seventeenth Ward.....262

Eighteenth Ward.....157

Nineteenth Ward.....189

Twentieth Ward.....157

Twenty-first Ward.....214

Twenty-second Ward.....191

Twenty-third Ward.....210

Twenty-fourth Ward.....297

Twenty-fifth Ward.....174

Twenty-sixth Ward.....172

Twenty-seventh Ward.....334

Twenty-eighth Ward.....208

St. Louis County:

Division No. 1 (Clayton).....165

Division No. 2 (Ferguson).....230

Division No. 3 (Kirkwood).....249

Questionnaires now are being mailed out for the classification of the new registrants. They will have seven days in which to return the questionnaires to their local boards, after which the board will classify them according to the rules recently announced. This work is expected to be completed before the end of July.

The imminence of the draft call for the new Class 1 registrants is shown by the fact that in two states, Illinois and Arizona, no men were called for the July movement because Class 1 in those states is practically exhausted.

The July call, according to an announcement already made from Washington, will take 13,200 men from Missouri. Lieutenant Colonel Ford, in charge of the draft operation for the State, said yesterday that the State probably would be called upon to furnish 21,000 men during the month. Although official figures were not available, it was learned that if this number is taken less than half as many Class 1 men will remain available in the State, and if monthly movements of similar proportions are continued Class 1 of the new registration will be called

German Foreign Secretary in Reichstag Speech Discusses Nation's Attitude Toward Peace.

By the Associated Press.
AMSTERDAM, June 26.—Additional excerpts from the peace speech of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, German Foreign Secretary, in the Reichstag, on Monday, have been received here. He declared the idea of victory for the Entente was a dream and expressed hope that the Entente Allies would "find a way to approach us with peace offers which will correspond with the situation and satisfy Germany's vital needs."

There was an absence of enthusiasm in the Reichstag debate, says a Berlin dispatch to the Handelsblad. Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann had begun to talk when it became so dark in the House that the Deputies could hardly be distinguished from the press gallery.

This atmosphere of gloom, it is added, was symptomatic of the entire speech and its reception, especially the Foreign Secretary's reference to the prolonged war.

Von Hertling and Vice Chancellor von Payer sat at each side of the Foreign Secretary. Length of the War. "When one makes a wide survey of events," said the Secretary, "one must ask whether the war, according to human calculations, will last beyond the autumn or the winter or beyond next year. There is a common idea among the people that the length of the war is something absolutely new, as if the authoritative quarters had in our time never reckoned on a very long war. This idea is incorrect."

Dr. von Kuehlmann quoted Von Moltke, who, in 1890, in the Reichstag, said that, if war broke out, its duration and end could not be calculated. "Despite the brilliant success of our arms," continued the Secretary, "there has been nowhere clearly recognizable among our enemies readiness for peace. The German Government has repeatedly laid down its standpoint in declarations intended for the widest publicity. Our enemies have nothing to show that can in any degree compare with the German peace offer, with the resolution of this House, or with the reply to the papal note.

"The declarations of our enemies, especially of English statesmen, allow as yet no peaceful ray of light to fall on the darkness of this war."

Referring to Balfour's speech, in which the British Foreign Secretary said that Germany had unchained the war to achieve world domination, Dr. von Kuehlmann said:

"I do not believe that any responsible man in Germany, not even the Kaiser or the members of the imperial Government, ever for a moment believed they could win the domination in Europe by starting this war. The idea of world domination in Europe is a Utopia, as proved by Napoleon. The nation which tried it would, as happened to France, bleed to death in useless battle and would be most grievously injured and lowered in her development. One may here apply Von Moltke's phrase, 'Woe to him who sets Europe afire.'"

"At no moment of our later history was there less occasion for us to start or contribute to the starting of a conflagration than the moment in which it occurred. In a former debate I pointed out that the absolute integrity of the German empire and its allies formed the necessary prerequisite condition for entering into a peace discussion or negotiations. That is our position today.

"From England reproach is constantly made that we are not prepared on a hint from England to state our attitude publicly on the Belgian question. On this point the fundamental views of the Imperial Government differ from those ascribed to us by English statesmen. We regard Belgium as one question in the entire complex. We must, however, decline to make, as it were, a prior concession by giving a statement on the Belgian question which would bind us, without the least binding the enemy.

ENTENTE VICTORY ONLY DREAM, SAYS VON KUEHLMANN

"Mr. Balfour, moreover, by way of precaution, has added that we must in no way imagine that any agreement on the Belgian question exhausts the stock of English or Entente wishes. He prudently abstained from describing those points in which he intends to announce more far-reaching claims or desires. The supposition is not justified by previous experiences that, while these words, on one hand, were addressed to Paris, on the other hand coveted desires floated across the Mediterranean to the ports of Palestine and Mesopotamia at present occupied by British troops.

"I hear already the justification which will be truly given for such desires, namely, that England could not possibly make such sacrifices of blood and treasure without reserving for herself most of the gains.

From Speaker's Tribune.
"The Imperial Chancellor and I have previously declared that in the present stage of development far-going advances on the road to peace can hardly any longer be expected from public statements which we shout to each other from the speaker's tribune. We, too, can adopt the words spoken by Mr. Asquith."

He quoted from Asquith's speech of May 18, in which the former Premier said the British Government would not turn a deaf ear to a peace proposal if it was not couched in ambiguous terms.

"We, likewise," he added, "can make the same declaration, knowing it also is our policy. Once the moment arrives—when, I cannot prophesy—that the nations which are at present locked in battle will exchange peace views, one of the preliminary conditions must be a certain degree of mutual confidence in each other's honesty and chivalry."

"For so long as every overture is regarded by others as a peace offensive, as a trap or as something false for the purpose of sowing disunion between the allies; so long as every attempt at a rapprochement is at once violently denounced by the enemies of a rapprochement in the various countries, so long will it be impossible to see how any exchange of ideas leading to peace can be begun."

"Our position on the battlefields, our enormous military resources and the situation and determination at home permit us to use such language. We hope that our enemies will perceive that in view of our resources the idea of victory for the Entente is a dream, an illusion, and that they will in due course find a way to approach us with peace offers which will correspond with the situation and satisfy Germany's vital needs."

Secretary von Kuhlmann made a general reply to criticisms raised in the debate. He said the most difficult question in the conclusion of a peace would be territorial questions, and proceeded to deal in some detail with the rectifications that would be required by Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria. Discussions between the two Central Powers will offer no difficulties.

Turkey and Bulgaria.
The Secretary, referring to the difficulties in settling frontier questions between Turkey and Bulgaria owing to sentimental grievances left by the Balkan war, and said that Germany and Austria had done their best to establish a compromise. The sooner a compromise can be reached, he added, the sooner a final transfer of Northern Dobruja to Bulgaria can occur, and the better it will be for the interests of the entire alliance. He added: "The establishment of a compromise between Turkey and Bulgaria will require thorough deliberations between the allies. It would be very pleasing if an agreement between Bulgaria and Turkey relieves us of this task."

Regarding Rumania, the Foreign Secretary observed that criticism had been evoked because Germany had demanded no war indemnity in money or in the economic domain. Such an indemnity was not provided for in the instructions to the negotiators, added the Secretary, who continued:

"Rumania has, however, under the group of treaties submitted to you, very considerable services to Germany even in the way of money. With a conscientious fulfillment of obligations the Rumanian financial position will be the reverse of brilliant and the Rumanian people will be obliged to make serious efforts in order to be able to meet these obligations. The objection that Germany is not concerned is untenable, for we must render it possible for the debt or make payment."

Dr. von Kuhlmann, on peace, declared:
"In view of the magnitude of this war and the number of Powers, including those from overseas, that are engaged, it can hardly be expected through purely military decisions alone and without recourse to diplomatic negotiations."

"We wish for the German people and our allies a free, strong, independent existence within the boundaries drawn for us by history. We desire overseas possessions corresponding to our greatness and wealth, the freedom of the sea, carrying our trade to all parts of the world."

Dr. von Kuhlmann announced that within the next few days a conference would be held at Constantinople where the questions that had arisen between the quadruple alliance and "the Caucasian people" would "find a settlement."

As to Poland, Dr. von Kuhlmann said that not only was the Polish question inherently difficult, but the almost inseparable connection between it and the solution of the

GOVERNMENT HOUSE TO BE DEDICATED FRIDAY

Building at Ninth and Olive Streets Will Be Used for Sale of Thrift Stamps.

A feature of War Savings day, Friday, will be the dedication of the "Government House" on Ninth and Olive streets, in front of the old Post-office Building.

There will be music by the Letter Carriers' Band, invocation by a St. Louis minister, reading of the President's proclamation setting aside June 28 as War Savings day, by Joseph R. Barroll, chairman of the War Savings Committee of St. Louis, and addresses by James P. Bradley, Postmaster Selph and Mrs. N. A. McMillan, chairman of the Women's Division of the War Savings Committee of St. Louis.

In addition, the Italian, Polish and Bohemian societies have been invited to participate. The members of the Women's Committee, Council of Defense, will be guests of honor. There will be 500 letter carriers in uniform and 350 insurance agents who will act as ushers and salesmen. There will be 100 representatives from the Colored Women's Unit, St. Louis Women's Committee, Council of National Defense, under the direction of Mrs. Victoria Clay Haley, chairman.

The "Government House" has been built by subscriptions of nine St. Louisans and will be used throughout the period of the war for the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps, Liberty Bonds and war relief work. At the dedication there will be a company of Home Guards and the Great Lakes Naval Band.

The War Board of Religious Organizations will be in charge of the "Government House" on the day of dedication, and throughout the summer for the sale of War Savings certificates. Mrs. Louis Brooks is chairman, and each day one of the churches composing the board will be on duty at the "Government House."

ENTENTE VICTORY ONLY DREAM, SAYS VON KUEHLMANN

states, under the ever-increasing pressure of the United States, have joined the enemy ranks, but no substantial changes in the position have taken place. The Imperial Government's policy is to do everything that can be done to render impossible the entry of further neutral states into the ranks of our enemies. The Secretary said victories had given the Germans the initiative in France, and he continued: "We can hope that the summer and autumn will bring to our arms a new and great success."

Washington Views Speech as "Peace Offensive."

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 26. — Germany's latest declaration of war aims, as enunciated yesterday in the Reichstag by Dr. von Kuehlmann, Minister for Foreign Affairs, is regarded by officials here as merely another phase in the German's old cycle of military drives and peace offensives.

In the official view, Dr. von Kuehlmann's only new contribution was the attempt to fasten principal responsibility for planning the war upon Russia, the only great nation whose power has been broken by the Teutonic military and propaganda machines. Since Germany previously had contended that England and, to a lesser degree, France were responsible for the hostilities, this move by the Minister only served to strengthen the belief that a main purpose of the speech was to invite peace proposals from the west.

The view here is that, having gotten as far westward as the power of its army was able to reach in the last drive, and fearing a substantial loss of the Italian territory occupied by Austria as the result of the brilliant counter offensive by the

Gen. Diaz, Germany was renewing its old effort to hold its ill-gotten gains by proposing peace negotiations before the tide began to set too strongly against her, and at the same time pacify the uneasy elements in Germany and Austria which have been clamoring for peace.

U. S. CAN CONTROL STREET CAR FARES

Attorneys Report to Labor Commission That Government Has Jurisdiction.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 26.—The Government now has the power to control the question of fares charged by street railways, according to the opinion of a committee of attorneys which will report to William Howard Taft and Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the War Labor Commission, today.

The decision of the committee, which was reached late today after an all-day struggle with the problem of Government jurisdiction over fares, is regarded as one of the most important reached at the conference relative to street railways now being conducted by the War Labor Commission.

The committee acted at the suggestion of Taft and Walsh and while its decision is not official in any way, it is known the opinion will be regarded highly by the War Labor Commission.

The fare question is regarded as the crux in the settlement of various street railway labor difficulties throughout the country. The cities of East St. Louis, Alton and Galesburg in Illinois are directly concerned and practically every other city in the country will be concerned in the future with the question of jurisdiction.

It is the opinion of the committee that without further grant of power by Congress the Government can assume control, which is now vested in state utility commissions, to increase rates of fare. Only one dissenting voice was reached, and that came from Cleveland, O., where the city is desirous of retaining its jurisdiction.

MAN REPORTED KILLED IN FRANCE WRITES FRIENDS HERE

Ray Ullmark Was Wounded, and Now Is Convalescing in an English Hospital.

St. Louis friends of Ray Ullmark of C. Company, Twelfth Engineers, who was reported killed in action April 26, yesterday received a letter dated in France, May 13, from Ullmark stating that he escaped with a broken nose and broken arm. He writes that he is convalescing in an English hospital, and expects soon to be quite well.

The report of Ullmark's death reached St. Louis two weeks ago in a letter from Thomas Plonon, also of St. Louis, a comrade. Ullmark's name was not mentioned in the casualty lists.

Before joining the Twelfth Engineers' Regiment, which was recruited in St. Louis, Ullmark was a drug clerk at the Judge & Dolph drug store, at 515 Olive street, and lived at 1018 Eugenia street. He came here from Moline, Ill.

HOUSE PAINTED YELLOW IN NIGHT

New Douglas (Ill.) Farmer Said to Have Opposed Soldiers' Fund.

It is believed that the reported refusal of John Weber, a wealthy retired farmer, to contribute to the entertainment fund for departing soldiers from New Douglas, or to permit his wife to and his alleged statement to Miss Della Britt, the committee chairman, that it was "all foolishness," had something to do with the fact that when Weber arose yesterday he found his house had been streaked with yellow paint during the night. He has been unable to learn who did the painting.

WOMAN SAYS SHE WAS BEATEN AND TIED BY A RAG MAN

Husband Finds Her on Kitchen Floor With Hands and Feet Bound.

Mrs. Lillian McClelland, 29 years old, of 311 Lafayette avenue, was lying on the floor in the kitchen, her hands and feet tied with clothesline, when her husband, William McClelland, returned from work last evening.

She wrote that she was unable to talk as the result of having been choked and beaten by a ragman. He knocked her down, she wrote, when she refused to sell him some old paper at his own price. She also wrote that she recognized her assailant as a man she had testified against in a divorce proceeding two years ago, but could not recall his name. Mrs. Mary Krack, who lives next door to the McClellands, told police men that she saw the ragman enter the McClelland home at 1:30 p. m., and that he remained there for two hours. She heard no unusual sounds, she said.

Mrs. McClelland said that the ragman made no attempt to rob her.

WOMEN AID IN WAR SAVINGS STAMP WORK

Different Societies Have Charge of Booths in Hotels and Other Buildings.

ONE of the most absorbing and one of the things of most vital interest to women just now is the War Savings Stamp campaign which is in full swing this week. Different societies and organizations have charge of the booths at the hotels and other buildings and the week opened Monday with the members of the Equal Suffrage League in command. Yesterday the Daughters of the American Revolution took over the booths under the direction of Mrs. John Trigg Moss. Today various other patriotic societies under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin F. Gray, were in charge and among those who assisted were Mrs. William Bagnell and Mrs. James Hunt Lucas in charge of the Order of the Crown and the Americans of Armorial Ancestors.

The F. F. V. of 1897-20 during the settlement of Jamestown were represented by Mrs. Cabell Gray and Mrs. W. Ashley Gray. The Colonial Dames had Mrs. James Allison and Mrs. Mary Polk Winn and the Daughters of 1812 had Mrs. Theodore Shelton and Mrs. De Garmo. # Are You the Dupe of a Patriotick?

A PATRIOTICK is a swindle by which your patriotism is twisted to serve the selfish interests of another. It usually takes the form of a spreading rumor that a certain brand of goods is owned or controlled by Alien Enemies. True patriots do not want to buy such goods and in times like these a lie has a thousand lives and travels on broad, fleet wings. The patriotick is not a new trick. Dozens of loyal American, French and British firms suffered from it, even before America entered the war.

We and our customers are victims of it today. We can no longer ignore the fact that thousands of druggists and dentists have been told, and are innocently passing along the story, that Pebeco Tooth Paste is an Alien Enemy product.

The story is untrue. Its only possible foundation is the fact that the formula for Pebeco was originated years ago in the laboratory of a Hamburg scientist.

Pebeco has been made in New York City since 1903. Every share of Lehn & Fink stock and every dollar's worth of bonds are owned by American citizens.

Not one dollar from the sale of Pebeco Tooth Paste finds its way to any alien enemy or any alien interests. Sole license for the manufacture of Pebeco has been granted to Lehn & Fink by the United States Federal Trade Commission.

All the officers and directors of Lehn & Fink are American citizens, and only American capital is used. Lehn & Fink is not subsidized by nor connected with any other concern, American or Foreign.

Don't be the dupe of the patriotickster.

Pebeco Tooth Paste is for sale by all druggists quarters. They know all about the Theft-Signal and the reward. An officer will be rushed to make the arrest. If the suspected one proves to have been trying to steal the car you will be paid $100 upon his conviction. Rewards have been paid. Mrs. Mary Schultz, 64 years old, of 4104 North Broadway, was taken to the city hospital last night after she had swallowed a small bone at dinner. The bill of fare consisted of spare ribs and liberty cabbage. The obstruction interfered with her breathing, and she fainted.

Rev. George Washington Williams, 32 years old, a negro, of 3631 Cook avenue, was arrested last night for having failed to register for the draft. He told the police that he was under the impression that his ministerial calling exempted him from military service.

Stanley Podlaski, 6 years old, of 1711 North Eighth street, was knocked down at Ninth and Madison streets yesterday afternoon by a motor truck operated by William Buyat of 1112 St. Louis avenue. His left leg was broken.

An inventory completed yesterday showed that burglars who, last week, got into the storehouse of the Edwin Schiele Distilling Co., 118 North Third street, stole three barrels of whisky, 16 cases of whisky and several bottles of brandy, all valued at $1000.

Joseph Schloemer, 39 years old, of 1513 South Tenth street, was found dead in his room yesterday afternoon. The police were informed that he had been suffering from cancer.

The body of a man about 50 years old, taken from the river at Ferry street yesterday, is at the morgue awaiting identification. A purse containing $2 found in the man's pocket bore the trade stamp of a grocer in Sharon, Pa. The body apparently had been in the water a long time.

WIFE SLAYER'S PRELIMINARY HEARING BEGUN

Blanket Murder Charge Filed Against J. R. Jackson of Kansas City, Who Threw Wife From Train.

DENIES KILLING WAS PREMEDITATED

Prosecutor, at Shelbyville, Says State Will Show Woman Could Not Have Been Conscious at Time.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SHELBYVILLE, Mo., June 26.—A large crowd attended the preliminary hearing here today of Irving Morgan of Kansas City, known as J. R. Jackson, who threw his wife from the state-room window of a Burlington train, near Shelbyville, the night of June 13.

John Dale, County Prosecutor, has filed a blanket murder charge against the husband, embracing three counts, one that Mrs. Morgan was strangled before she was hurled from the car window, the second that she was poisoned into unconsciousness, the third that death was caused by her husband pushing her from the train.

The County Attorney said today the State would prove it would have been impossible for the woman to have been thrown from the car had she been conscious. Prosecutor Dale injected the poison element into the case after the finding of a box of chocolates near the railroad track, close to the scene of the killing. The candy is being examined by a chemist, and if no poison is discovered the poison feature will be dismissed from the indictment.

Dr. Charles Chapman, County Coroner, and Ezra Peters, undertaker, will testify, according to the Prosecutor, that Mrs. Morgan's throat was unusually black when they examined the body, indicating she had been choked.

George Birmingham of Kansas City, counsel for Morgan, declined to introduce any defense testimony, confining his efforts to cross-examining the State witnesses.

Morgan has confessed his act, and will plead temporary insanity. The preliminary examination is before Justice John T. Perry.

Birmingham and detectives last night came here on the train, Burlington train taken by Morgan and his wife June 13. They examined compartment C, the one occupied by Morgan and his wife. The berth was made up and the scene of the crime re-enacted. The window space, about two feet by two feet, would permit the passage of a body several times larger than the slender one of Mrs. Morgan. The attorney called attention to an electric push button in the compartment. If a struggle had taken place between the man and wife the woman could have called a negro porter immediately by a slight pressure of the buzzer, the attorney explained.

Says He Will Name Four Men.
Morgan has asserted steadily that his wife was alive and uninjured when he shoved her out the window, when she braced to him in intimacy with other men. Morgan said he would call at his trial the full complement of men who he says were responsible in part for the delinquency of his wife.

The men to be brought into the trial are the sailor at the Great Lakes Station, a well-known real estate dealer, a physician who recently joined the army medical unit at Port Riley, and a young clerk in a railroad office near the Railway Exchange Building in Kansas City, where Mrs. Morgan operated the cigar stand.

Mrs. Morgan posed as a single woman when employed at cigar stands, according to her husband.

Denies Killing Was Planned.
"I was pleading with my wife to return home to our boy," Morgan related today in referring to the incidents leading up to the time she lay in the berth nearly undressed. "She asked me to remove the window screen to enable her to throw out a box of chocolates that had melted. This candy she had intended giving her sailor lover, she asked me not to put back the screen as it was so warm in the stateroom. The wife put a pillow on the window sill. She rested her head partly outside the window. It was then she taunted me, sneered at me, defied me, told how she had broken the marriage vows and admitted an act no self-respecting husband and father could hear without seeing red. I couldn't control myself and I pushed her headlong from the window. I recovered my understanding in time to seize the falling body, but it was too late. "No matter what the consequences may be, I'm innocent of premeditation to take my wife's life."

DIRECTS $27,000 RESTORATION BY FORMER ILLINOIS OFFICIALS

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 26.—Restoration to the State of Illinois of more than $27,000 by former State Treasurer Andrew Russell, former State Auditor James J. Brady, former Secretary of State Lewis G. Stevenson and former Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara, is directed in a report of Thomas F. Ferns, master in Chancery for Sangamon County, who was designated by the Sangamon County Circuit Court to prepare conclusion of law and fact in the last of the Fergus suits known as the "committee expense bill" case, brought to enjoin the payment of certain expenditures of the Forty-ninth General Assembly.

And the sums improperly expended, the report says, the largest was for the O'Hara "vice commission," supposedly provided for in a resolution introduced by Senator Edward G. Currier of Grand Park and "unanimously" passed by the Senate. O'Hara is now an army officer. Hair brushes and other toilet articles given members of the State Legislature were also named.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Don't Start Wasteful Movements.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Attributing only the best of motives to O. Spaulding's suggestion in today's Post-Dispatch that St. Louis begin making plans "right now" for holding "a world's jubilee to celebrate the end of the war," yet the city's doing so would mean the diversion of public attention and very much business effort from the mighty job of winning the war.

The prediction seems a safe one that every city, town and hamlet on earth will have its own "great jubilee" over the ending of the war, and that unlike a world's fair one-for-all-the-world never would succeed.

If friend Spaulding wants to become famous at this critical stage of the war, let him spring a plan and start it working to stop the run of pro-enemy burning of war-equipment plants in our beloved St. Louis that within a few weeks has become a three or four million dollar scandal in the view of the country.

Talk about "proving" these big fires to be of pro-enemy origin—its so damnably plain that they are that no "proof" is needed. Why are they all war-equipment plant fires?
C. H. CRESSEY.

Good Shepherd Convent Needs Aid.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Our brave boys in the trenches have in the Red Cross the greatest mother of them all, who nurses them back to life after they have fallen in battle. We also have a greatest mother of them all in St. Louis, who have for years nursed back to life our sisters who have fallen by the wayside in life's moral battle, despondent, discouraged, penniless and without one friend to comfort or assist them with a pure desire, they appeal to this "mother," the Convent of the Good Shepherd.

The Good Shepherd Convent is in need of financial assistance—they are in debt about $75,000. This money must be raised and the wonderful work continued. Everyone who has heard the uplift of humanity should assist and, by so doing, interpret the lesson the war has taught us, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."
GEORGE B. MCKINNEY.

Get Together to Win the War.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I read with profound interest, thought and consideration your editorial of the 23d inst., on "Unity Above All," in winning the war. Well, I have often thought that there are no "sects in Heaven," and that the Lord God Almighty is "strictly on the square." Now, this being absolutely true and correct, then this is no time to "inject into the deliberations of Congress a sectarian spirit." What will it profit the "bone-dry" prohibitionists, "sects or creeds," or any American to win the largest fortune or gain the greatest political advantage or triumph over his fellows in any "policy," if we lose the war? Just so. Yes, let us get together for victory first, and then only will we fight over "personal doctrine and petty interests." Let the shipyard workers or employees have their portion of beer and wine "rations" if they have been accustomed to having it, instead of the people consuming "too much whiskey."

Gen. Pershing recommended to the War Department certain "tobacco rations" for our soldier boys on the western front in France because he knew from observation, experience, actual demonstration and results, that the moderate use of tobacco (smoking and chewing, as the case may be), was "beneficial," wise and helped in winning the war, not only because the tobacco acted as a sedative to the nerves, but as a mild stimulant and preserved the mental fiber of the soldier and the man.
GEORGE A. RITTER.

Sunday Closing Legislation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The grocery stores are closed on Sundays. The butcher shops are closed on Sundays. The bakeries and dry goods stores are going to close on Sundays. Why not have a law passed for closing the florists on Sundays?
There is no reason why these stores should not close just the same as all other retailers. Flowers, for Sunday use, can be delivered on Saturday, thereby conserving in all ways, especially delivery service, also giving the employees a day of rest.
FLORIST EMPLOYEES.

More Gordon.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Morris G. Gordon has resigned the office of Supervisor of Building and Loan Associations and Gov. Gardner has appointed his wife to fill his unexpired term, notwithstanding a clause in section 34 of the building and loan laws that reads: "HE shall be a citizen of this State and shall have knowledge and experience of building and loan business." Business Man Gardner pledged himself to appoint efficient persons to office if he was elected Governor, but since his election he has in this and other instances "played politics" and ignored his pledge. The building and loan associations of Missouri pay a fee of $9 cents per $1000 of resources per annum to maintain the Bureau of Building and Loan Supervision, and are entitled to a Supervisor and examiners that measure up to the requirements of law, and this appointment means that we are handing Mrs. Gordon $200 per month and are not getting what we pay for—efficient supervision.

AN OFFENSIVE PEACE.

Dr. von Kuehlmann's peace offensive is about as offensive a peace move as any that has been launched.

Accusing Germany's enemies of vagueness in discussing peace, he announces as the fundamental basis of peace, "We wish the German people and our allies a free, strong, independent existence within the boundaries drawn for us by history."

This may mean anything. Harmless enough in the wording, interpreted in the light of Prussian history and proven aims, it means tremendous German expansion in territory, domination and enforced trade. What are the boundaries drawn for Germany by history? They are boundaries drawn by the Prussian sword. German history indicates as the boundaries of Germany all that Germany can take and hold. What is "a free, strong, independent existence for Germany and her allies"? In the imperialist mind of Germany we recognize in these words the formula for militarism and imperialism, holding the German people to the service of Junkerdom and through this power exploiting other peoples for the benefit of the military and privileged class. The ruling classes of Austria-Hungary read nothing but despotism over enslaved peoples in Von Kuehlmann's words, and we can imagine the interpretation by the unspeakable Turk and the brutal Bulgar.

In the light of real history Von Kuehlmann's effort to charge the war to Russia, England and France invites universal ridicule.

There is a fine unconscious irony in Dr. von Kuehlmann's statement that one of the preliminary conditions of a peace conference "must be a certain degree of mutual confidence in each other's honesty and chivalry." The Brest-Litovsk peace is an admirable introduction to this "mutual confidence."

It is evident that Germany is still afflicted with what has aptly been called "dementia Germanica," that madness for militarism and imperial power and glory which is incompatible with justice and peace so long as it rages. It is the madness that invites destruction.

In only one way can a just democratic peace be won; that is by crushing the German military power. This alone will open German eyes and cure German frenzy.

This is the way to help Russia, help the revolutionists of Austria, rescue all the victims of Prussian oppression, cruelty and exploitation. Peter Kropotkin, the devotee of Russian freedom and the ablest living Russian, says that the greatest help America can give to the Russian peoples and the Balkan peoples is to smash the Hapsburgs and the Hohenzollerns and their military and financial castes.

That is our job, in co-operation with our allies. There is no hope of a decent peace until the job is completed.

GREECE DOING HER SHARE.

Three news items in Saturday's papers showed that Greece, of whose activities in the war little has been heard recently, is now doing her full share. Greek wounded are being brought into Athens in large numbers and welcomed as heroes. To Demos are to be sung in all Greek churches on June 27, the anniversary of the unification of Greece when she finally took her place with the allies against Germany. The third item tells how Greece is calling all her sons to the colors, at home and abroad, including even fathers with four children. This seems to show that Greece, fighting Bulgaria and Turkey, with the former Russian and Rumanian aid cut off, is hard put to it to find enough men for the task. She deserves all the aid that can be given her by her allies.

Any Greeks or descendants of Greeks of fighting age in the United States who have not already joined the colors, will feel this call from their country in its day of need. They will rally to the cause for the triumph of civilization against the menace of Prussian dominance.

FORD ENDURANCE RUN.

Republican leaders in Michigan have declined the Democratic suggestion that Henry Ford be accepted as a bipartisan candidate for Senator, but as the Detroit News remarks, it is not a matter for endorsement, either by committees or by President, but for decision by the people under the direct primary.

So far the Democrats have no reason to regret their suggestion. The old lines along which partisan elections have been conducted are already sadly mixed. Petitions to place Mr. Ford's name on the Republican primary ballot are being circulated. If sufficient signatures for him are secured, the anti-Ford voters will be divided at the polls between two other candidates. Republicans to whom the idea of giving him the nomination of their party is most displeasing are also the ones who fear most that he won't get it. Running alone on the ticket of the Democrats, whose nomination he is certain to have, he would add such strength to that ticket as to defeat the Republican candidates for Congress in two or three of the closer districts and carry through other Democratic nominees for other offices. So they figure.

While the Ford qualifications for the job are savagely questioned by rival aspirants whose own qualifications for it are not unanimously admitted, preparations for standardizing the plain voters according to the well-known Ford system are well under way, looking to quantity production next November.

AERIAL POSTAL BUSINESS.

Why is the aerial mail service not better patronized in the East?

In the first month after its institution it carried only a little more than five tons of letter mail between New York, Philadelphia and Washington, an average of about 300 pounds a day in both directions on the three routes, but an average of only a little more than 60 pounds one way on each of the three. The average speed of the postal airplane is 70 miles an hour and in duty on the service they spent 158 hours in the air during the month and covered 11,109 miles.

Congress thinks the aerial rate is too high—24 cents an ounce—and Congress may be right. Anyway, it is talking of reducing it. Probably the disappointing volume of business explains why the St. Louis-Chicago route has not been established. However, experience in the East affords no guide in judging what the West will do. When the Western Union's 50-cent rate on night "letters" really sent by train draws a large and profitable business, why should the 24-cent aerial rate fail to yield an enormous postal revenue?

Between many important points airplane service can far outstrip even wire service, to say nothing of wireless "telegrams" forwarded by freight train.

The Austrians who crossed the River Piave are now regretting that they failed to get return tickets.

THE NEW GOOD ROADS PROBLEM.

The problem of good roads has absorbed a vast amount of thought and energy, with appreciable results. The county in which a start has not been made on a system of improved highways is exceptional. Many states have a large mileage of excellent roads with important centers connected by admirable trunk lines. The Federal Government, under wise conditions, apportioned $1,850,000 in aid of better roads during the year ending June 30, 1916; $9,700,000 during the year ending next Sunday and $14,550,000 during the year ending June 30, 1919.

But with the problem of good roads in a fair way toward solution, comes the problem of more durable good roads. George E. Diehl of Buffalo directed attention to its importance at a meeting of the directors of the American Automobile Association held at Atlantic City. That our newly developed systems of good roads are breaking down, was his assertion.

The automobiles now in use number 5,000,000, with an annual mileage greater than that of all the railroad and trolley passenger cars in the country. The incessant passage at high speed of heavy touring cars over the improved highways is not the only cause of their rapid deterioration. A new factor is the heavier motor truck laden with several tons of freight. How much the railroad congestion has caused reliance to be placed on these trucks for transport on short hauls as well as long hauls is perhaps not generally appreciated.

There are now 500,000 of these trucks in use. If, with half a million motor trucks plus 5,000,000 passenger cars, the surface of our hard roads is quickly smashed and rendered almost impassable in places, what will be the result when a million or two million motor trucks with greater number of passenger cars are in use—a time not far distant?

St. Louis County has for several years been confronting the same problem. There, but for the obstructive litigation over the bond issue, a solution would by this time be sought in the use of the more durable materials of which city pavements are constructed. Doubtless the same solution will have to be sought in the case of the improved trunk lines and other roads throughout the country.

Hank Weeke has been found to be an enemy alien. The merchants along Produce Row always believed Hank had an enemy alien weigh about him.

BRAZIL'S SHOWING IN THE WAR.

Brazil declared war on Germany, Oct. 26 last, for the same reason that forced us into the war—submarine outrages against its citizens and its ships.

It has now an Admiral in Europe supervising its naval operations against the common enemy and from him we learn something of what Brazil has been doing to assist the allied cause. He says that Brazilian warships are co-operating with American and British vessels in keeping open the sea lanes in Western Europe. Brazil's navy prior to the war had but two modern battleships, but was disproportionately strong in destroyers, and it may be assumed that its naval force abroad consists largely of those vessels so useful in tracking U-boats. Its naval personnel of more than 15,000 undoubtedly includes many men of technical accomplishments whose services will be valuable. It has also sent aviators to join the allied flying forces and physicians, whose aid is much needed. In fact, its participation in the war seems to have been intelligently planned with a view of rendering the help which will be most acceptable at this time and which can be made available in the shortest space of time.

It is important that the Latin-American countries which have joined the allies make a showing in the war. They must inspire Germany with respect in the future. Brazil has already shown that her friendship is much more to be desired than her enmity. And the plan to drill South American troops in the United States may mean that she is to participate on a much larger and more powerful scale.

Mayor Kiel says the charter permits him to retain an enemy alien in a city office. The charter permits the Mayor to do a number of foolish things. But it also makes him take the definite responsibility for doing them.

AUSTRALIA'S MONROE DOCTRINE.

It is not conceivable that Australia will find much opposition in America to its proposed Monroe Doctrine of the South Seas if it means by that a policy similar to the one this country has always maintained towards the American hemisphere.

President Monroe's declaration to the world that this country would consider it an unfriendly act for any European Power to attempt to extend its territory or influence in this half of the world by acts of aggression had a two-fold meaning. In the first place, it was intended to guarantee to even the feeblest of peoples struggling for freedom the right to develop without fear of molestation. In the second place, it was intended to keep our own thresholds free of the menaces that had turned Europe into an armed camp.

Australia has similar rights in its part of the world. In a political sense it is as truly democratic as we are. It apparently has no purposes of aggression upon the outlying islands of the South Pacific, but it does not desire to see any of them taken over by any strong Power that might use them for naval bases that would be dangerous to its own existence. And America can go far with Australia in such a program.

MR. ANTWINE ON RIVER TRAFFIC.

"It is just as well the Government is going to have charge of river traffic, now we are to have it back," Mr. Antwine said. "We have fought for it so long that I am afraid we would be a good deal like the Russians if we tried to run it ourselves. You know the Russians fought for liberty so long they forgot what they were going to do with it when they did get it. Probably we have forgotten, in these long, barren years just what it was we were going to do with river traffic when we got it back."

"However, Government control and operation through the war will give us a chance to collect the thoughts scattered by years of failure, and when we come to taking the traffic in hand ourselves the dangerous or Bolshevik period will have passed. That was exactly what Russia needed—someone to manage the country for her a little bit after she got it back, while she pulled herself together."

"It will be a fine thing to go over to the landing again and see the boats. What has always amazed me is why we ever let the railroads drive them off the rivers. What their disappearance has cost the cities on the rivers in manufacturing and population in the past thirty or forty years is incalculable. Only the war could serve either to make us see it or to make the usefulness of the rivers become apparent."

"Meanwhile, all the competing cities enjoying water traffic have either long ago passed our own cities or have made preparations to pass them in the next census. We have had only the birth rate against the water rate, so to speak. It has cost us dearly. What we must do now is to make up lost ground. I will venture to say that reviving river traffic will put St. Louis, for instance, back into her place in the census list before very long. There are some things that belong to us in this valley, and if we are going to get them we haven't much to worry about in competition with other parts of the country."

SCIENCE AND SAWDUST

HE juggled a unit to infinity
And told that all the voids of space
And that that eye of man had seen,
Was naught to man—that eternity
Held not for us, nor all our race
A solace in its awful mien.

His theme was science, abstract, cold,
That proves by test tube all that lies
In range of Mind—man's paltry mind—
That fact, to him, was natanat gold,
That wide, cerulean skies
Were bluish gas—of a certain kind.

That war of Love and Hate's black wool
Were ecstasies by hope conjured,
Illusions that could not exist.
In fact—he wanted fact and proof
With all the chimeras obscured,
Without imagery or twist.

He preached against the Perian waves,
Said Olympus was an ancient lie,
That all the gods of pre-Christ times
Were the ephemera of slaves
Who spun their wings and let 'em fly
That I might net them in my rhymes!

He insisted that Erato had
No throne of cloud, no queenly air;
That 'mongst the storied isles of Greece
The bowman, Cupid, was no lad
With silvery wings and yellow hair—
That Jason sought no Golden Fleece.

He said that Vesta's were but dreams—
(I've met them strolling oftentimes—)
That Diana roamed no forest shade,
That nothing is just what it seems,
That Fancy breeds the greatest crimes,
That Poets are—to order made!

He said and said—and kept on saying
That facts were facts and lies were lies;
In fact he had a bald defiance
For all the gods in heaven straying—
Which is, in fact, a bold emprise
For 'en the baldest gods of Science.

His tubes and scales he set before me,
Wondrous in complex design.
He said—"From these no fact is hidden"—
"G'wan," I said, "then jiggers bore me,
Alembic jugs is not my line;
So, stow the junk an' 'quit yer kiddin'!"

He looked surprised—almost quit breathin';
He also motioned 'wards the door,
And said, when I arose and started:
"You said! You damned, poetic heathen, Don't you 'light 'round here any more!"
Now, that's a FACT! And then we parted!

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

PAYING FOR THE WAR.

CLAUDE KITCHIN, Chairman of the War and Means Committee of the House of Representatives, in Munsey's.

THE larger our bond issues, the longer must war-tax legislation remain on the statute books. The interest to be paid yearly on outstanding Government bonds cannot be paid out of funds borrowed from the people; it must be paid out of fixed revenues. That we ought to raise more taxes than we are now raising is my belief; and we ought to raise them now, when our incomes and profits are so much larger than ever before, and larger than they will probably be after the war.

Furthermore, by its continual sale of Treasury certificates and Liberty Bonds, the Government has barred up almost every avenue of credit which is so vital to American industry and business. The Government has almost exhausted, and will continue during this war to exhaust, the surplus loanable funds of the banks throughout the country by its continuous demand for money with which to defray, in part, the expenses of the war. This contraction of credit facilities forced the Government to create the War Finance Corporation to assist American business at this critical financial period.

Yet it is evident that we Americans should not expect to make enormous profits—vastly greater than before the war, in many cases, even after deducting the present income and excess-profits taxes—and make no increase in taxation, but continue the tremendous bond issues to fasten on future generations to pay.

If we do not collect more by taxation now, when the people are able to pay more from their enormous profits and incomes, but continue to issue bonds, piling up hundreds of millions—and it will reach a billion and more—of interest to be paid yearly by taxes, the rates of taxation will have to be increased anyhow, in order to produce sufficient revenue to take care of current expenses and of the annual interest charge; and the increase will have to be made at a time when incomes and profits are likely to be on the decrease.

We are now taxing excess profits, including war profits. The probable yield of these taxes is estimated at about one and one-quarter billion dollars. For two or three years after the war profits will probably remain about as large as at present. They may not be war profits, but they will be excess profits, made possible by conditions resulting from the war. The actual war industries, such as munition-making and the manufacture of other military or naval supplies, will not have as large profits after the war as they have now. It remains to be seen whether the decrease in that line after the war will be fully compensated by an increase in other manufactures, such as may be required in the peace-time work of reconstruction, here and abroad. But we must have, as things stand now, larger collections from incomes and excess profits.

At the beginning of the war the administration started out with what may be called a "fifty-fifty" idea—that is, to pay half the cost by taxation and half with bonds. Our expenditures and our loans to our allies, however, have grown so enormously and so rapidly that that idea has been set aside. At present I do not know what the administration's views are, but I believe that students of finance are agreed that it will become necessary for us to have a considerably larger collection from taxes if the bond issues continue, as in all probability they will. I repeat that I am in sympathy with the idea that we should fasten as little burden as possible on future generations, and raise as much now by taxation as is reasonably possible, considering the necessity of keeping our industries going and not seriously crippling them.

Financing the war, and financing the Government, and financing business, and financing the people—one at a time, so that each can finance the other—is the key to victory. To the public, Congress may seem to be progressing slowly. A day's delay at the front might lose the war, but a day's haste in legislation, without due thought and care, might be equally disastrous. The fact is that the House has passed more legislation this session, up to date, than in the same period of any other session in the history of Congress.

HOW TO KEEP THE BABY
WELL IN SUMMER—5

THOUSAND Missouri babies die every year. The Women's Committee of the Missouri Division, National Council of Defense, is undertaking, through a campaign of education, to reduce this mortality by half in 1918. Its work is in co-operation with the Child Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, which initiated a national campaign along this line.

The Women's Committee has obtained from a dozen or more St. Louis local experts a series of articles on the care of the baby in summer. It has arranged to circulate throughout the State. The fifth of the articles is here given, and others will follow:

HOW TO WEAN BABY SUCCESSFULLY.

Never wean your child in the hot months. Try to nurse baby all summer. Even part mother's milk may save ten bottle-fed babies die to one that is breast fed.

At nine months, give one bottle of cow's milk to replace one breast feeding. The proper proportions are:

1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup water
1/2 level teaspoonful sugar.

After two weeks replace another breast feeding with cow's milk of the proportions.

Wait two weeks and replace a third feeding.

Keep on nursing the other two feedings for a month and then wean entirely. If the mother has plenty of milk up to 11 months, it is not necessary to bottle at all. At 11 months a child can drink milk from a cup.

By and by the wheels of Mr. Pig Porker's cart could be heard coming along and the tap, tap, tap of the little donkey's feet on the road. Mr.

Fox smiled and licked his mouth; he could almost taste those geese then.

Mr. Pig Porker was not afraid of Mr. Fox, for he knew his geese were safe in the crate and he knew Mr. Dog lived up the road and if he squealed loud enough he would come and help him.

So when Mr. Fox said "Good morning" to him he stopped to chat.

"Going to town?" asked Mr. Fox.

"Yes, I am going to get Madam Porker a red dress," replied Mr.

Porker and this was just what Mr. Fox wanted him to say.

"A red dress?" repeated Mr. Fox.

"How charming Madam Porker will look in a red dress! It will set off her beauty to perfection.

Mr. Porker smiled, for he thought his wife a very fine-looking creature.

"And speaking of red dresses," said Mr. Fox, "I think I can tell you where you could get one at a great bargain, if you would care to be told."

"I have to sell the geese, first," said Mr. Porker.

"Oh, that is easy enough," replied Mr. Fox without even a glance at the cackling geese, who did not at all like the looks of Mr. Fox.

"The red dress I spoke of belongs to Mrs. Bear. She has outgrown it, and I heard her say only yesterday that she would be glad to trade it off for two fat geese.

Mr. Pig Porker began to be interested, for if he could get Madam Porker a red dress for two fat geese he could trade the others for a pipe and some tobacco, which he much wanted.

"I will be glad to show you where Mrs. Bear lives," said Mr. Fox, and not once did he look at the crate of geese in the back of Mr. Porker's cart.

Of course, Mr. Porker said he would be glad to be shown the way, so Mr. Fox jumped up on the seat beside Mr. Pig Porker and told him to drive into the woods.

When they came to a big road with an opening, Mr. Fox said:

"This is the entrance to Mrs. Bear's house; it is on the other side of this road."

Off the seat jumped Mr. Fox and began to call: "Oh, Mrs. Bear! Oh, Mrs. Bear!" But no one answered.

"Funny she does not come," said Mr. Fox; "but she may be out. I know where the dress is, though, and if you do not mind walking through this rather old mill, I will show you the dress. I forgot to tell you it is red velvet and trimmed with gold lace."

When Mr. Porker heard how gorgeous the red dress was, he ed it more than ever, for Madam Porker would be willing to make potato soup every night for a week if he gave her such a beautiful dress.

Mr. Pig Porker jumped from his seat on the cart and followed Mr.

Fox into the dark passage.

It was so dark that Mr. Porker could not see, but he heard Mr. Fox

Why Do You Love America?

By Helen Rowland.

"A Country Is Like a Mother—We Are So Apt to Take All Her Virtues and Blessings and Gifts for Granted. It Is Only in Times Like These, When Her Life Is Threatened, That We Stop to Remember!"

WHY do you love your Country?

You know why you hate the Kaiser—but that is not enough. Hatred is wasted energy. It is LOVE—always love—that wins.

A country is like a MOTHER—We are so apt to take all her virtues and blessings and gifts for granted—

So ready to accept everything from her, and give nothing in return! It is only in times like these, when her life is threatened, that we stop to remember!

If you were born in America, and have never been out of it, you do not know WHY you love America.

You just love her—and let it go at that. But if you are a foreign-born citizen of America,

Or if you have ever been away from America "for a long, long time,"

You KNOW! You know a thousand reasons why you love this Land of hope, and freedom, and comfort, and equality, and plenty.

This Land of free schools, and free colleges, where your children may be educated,

This Land, where the poor man of today may be the rich man of tomorrow,

This Land, where the lowliest enjoys comforts and luxuries such as only the wealthiest dare hope for in other lands,

This Land of the universal bathtub, the common vote, the biggest mountains, the biggest crops and the biggest hearts in the world!

This Land, where every man has a wholesome respect for THE MAN WHO WORKS.

And a chivalrous regard for women!

This Land of plenty—where every man may have and enjoy as much of that plenty as he is willing to work for,

And where there is NO LIMIT to his possibilities of attainment except his OWN LACK of energy, ambition and ability!

YOU KNOW—

You, who come from Russia, and who no longer lie trembling in your beds at night, listening fearfully for the dreaded knock of the Czar's soldiers at your door!

You know—Who have seen women yoked to oxen in the fields of Hungary. And knocked off the sidewalks by insolent soldiers in the streets of Berlin!

You, who have seen a poor man cut down his fruit tree, because the tyrant's tax upon that tree was more than the fruit brought him—YOU know why you love America!

You know that she is your foster-mother, Who opened her gates and her arms to you!

Her hills and valleys are the breasts from which you have drawn your sustenance!

Her FLAG is the symbol of your liberty! Her songs are your battle-cry of freedom!

Her people are your brothers!

YOU know—and I know

For I have stood upon the deck of an incoming ocean liner, after long months of exile from my Country,

And felt that strange, sweet tingling of the blood, that glad throbbing in the heart, that wild joy that is almost pain,

Called "Love of Country!"

Let pacifists and scoffers sneer at "patriotism" if they will. But it is still the biggest, finest, noblest emotion of the human heart.

A man who has no love of country is a man without a soul!

You cannot describe it, nor define it, nor defy it, nor eradicate it! It is born in the soul, like the belief in Divinity—

And without either of these, you are not a MAN!

WHY do you love your Country? Why do you love your MOTHER?

It is one and the same thing!

In front of him say: "Walk very slowly and you will come to the light presently," and then all was very still.

When Mr. Pig Porker came at last to the light he was surprised not to see Mr. Fox right ahead of him. He called, but no one answered.

Neither did he see any place that looked like Mrs. Bear's house.

Mr. Porker started for he heard a noise very like a frightened cackle of geese, and then he saw it all. Mr. Fox had run out of the cave ahead of him, and was this very minute helping himself to the geese.

Mr. Porker did not go back the way he came. He ran around the rock just in time to see Mr. Fox disappearing with a fat goose.

He had been fooled and that was all there was to it, so Mr. Pig Porker jumped on his cart a sadder but wiser pig and drove to market with one goose less than when he left home.

He sold the geese, but there was not a penny left even for tobacco, and later when Madam Porker had made her red dress and was wearing it, Mr. Pig Porker sighed as he thought of the nice smoke he might be enjoying if only he had not let the sly Mr. Fox play a trick on him.

Directions for Perfume Making

By ANDRE DUPONT.

It is a delightful pastime for one of these long summer days to set about making your own perfumes, toilet waters and sachets for next winter. Anyone who is the fortunate possessor of a garden of roses or other sweet scented flowers, can do this at small expense.

Honeysuckle blossoms, mignonette, rose geranium leaves, lemon verbena, crab apple blossoms, syringa, or anything with a natural sweet odor can be used, and they are best picked early in the morning. Pick each flower from its stalk and tear it carefully into several pieces, and spread on a plate to dry just a little. Leave only 15 minutes.

Next take a small glass jar—a pint preserve jar is about right—and get a little sheet wadding and cut it into ten or twelve rounds that will fit into the jar. Pour a little olive oil on any kind of sweet oil on a flat plate and soak each cotton round in this until it is saturated. Be careful to see that the oil is absolutely sweet.

Now sprinkle salt over the bottom of the jar, and on this place a layer of rose petals or other flowers, and over them put one of the oil-soaked rounds of cotton. Sprinkle more salt and more flowers, and so continue until the jar is full. Screw on the top and place in the sun.

Let it stand in the sun for 10 days. The more sun that falls upon it during this time the stronger will be the perfume, and if the weather is not very warm and bright it is best to leave it for two weeks.

When the sun has done its work extracting the stored sweetness from the blossoms, open the jar, tie a piece of cheesecloth across the top, and carefully pour off the oil through the cloth. When all has drained out that will come, take off the cloth and with a spoon press the wadding against the sides of the jar. This can be strained and added to the rest. This oil will be found to be delightfully perfumed.

Add to this one to three or four parts of alcohol, according to the strength desired. Pour the mixture into a bottle it only half fills and shake vigorously until thoroughly mixed. Now bottle and cork tightly, otherwise the scent will evaporate.

Delicious sachets for bureau drawers or closet shelves can be made from rose petals. Pull the petals from a rose—the sweeter scented the better—sprinkle lightly over a plate and strew on it a little salt, and lay in the sun to dry for two days. On another platter lay lemon verbena leaves and rose geranium leaves to dry in the same way, but do not put any salt on these. After two days mix with a little powdered orris root and a very small pinch of cloves and a few drops of your floral perfume and put in a tin box or covered jar to ripen. After a fortnight this can be taken out and placed in sachet bags.

CONSERVING CLOTHES

THAT we must conserve clothes is an acknowledged fact; but let us for ourselves and our country's sake economize fashionably. Wear your old blouses, to be sure, but see to it that they do not stain. Justice. The blouse with the blouse before-last collar, the blouse with the frayed lace edge, the blouse with the unbecoming neck line, these can all be made things of beauty and joy for the summer by adding bosoms, collars and cuffs of contrasting material. For she who dares the youthful fashions, there is the new flat Buster Brown collar, while the mature woman has variations of the shawl collar.—July Woman's Home Companion.

FUNNEL FROM BOTTLE

A FUNNEL that has a wide range of application about the household, and especially in food-canning season, may be made by cutting the body off an ordinary milk bottle. The bottle is trimmed at the desired point by an alcohol saturated cord around it and an applying a match. The glass will break evenly at that point. After breaking, the edge is smoothed off on an emery wheel and the funnel is ready for use.—Popular Mechanics.

Truly Nasty.

MISTRESS—Your master and I have been talking the matter over, Mary, and have decided that you must take a month's notice. Mary—Oh, indeed! I bet master wishes he could take a month's notice, too.—Passing Show.

COTTAGE CHEESE.

By U. S. Department of Agriculture.

COTTAGE cheese can be made easily in small quantities at home. If skim milk is set at night it will take only a short time in the morning to prepare the cheese for luncheon.

A quart of skim milk will make about three-quarters of a cupful of cottage cheese, which will be plenty for several substantial sandwiches, or for salad or soup for luncheon.

Heat the skim milk in a saucepan to as close to 75 degrees as you can get it—use a thermometer if you have one—then stir into it 1/4 cupful of good sour milk. Set the saucepan on the back of the stove, or nearby, so that the same temperature can be maintained as nearly as possible during the night.

In the morning cut the clabber into one-inch squares and cook it at 100 degrees for 30 minutes, stirring it every five minutes. A double boiler will service nicely for this, or you can stand the saucepan in a pan of hot water. Be careful not to let the temperature get above 100 degrees and do not cook the curd too long. Poor cottage cheese is usually the result of overcooking.

At the end of half an hour, pour the curd into a cheesecloth bag or a drain cloth thrown over a bowl. A small jelly strainer will answer. After it has drained 15 or 20 minutes, stir the curd around a little to hasten the drainage. When the curd is rather firm and the whey has nearly ceased to flow, it is ready for serving. Turn cheese out onto a dish, sprinkle a little salt over it and work it well with a spoon.

Cottage cheese made this way will be so good that the family will soon be asking for more—and then one part of your food problem will be solved. Try the following recipes:

CHEESE AND NUT LOAF.

Two cupfuls of cottage cheese, 1 cupful of chopped nuts, 1 cupful of cold leftover cereal (any kind), 1 cupful of dried bread crumbs (corn or victory bread), 1-3/4 to 2 teaspoonfuls of salt, 1 egg yolk, 2 tablespoons of chopped onion or 1/2 teaspoon onion juice, 1 tablespoon savory fat, salt, pepper.

Mix all ingredients thoroughly together and bake in a buttered pan at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. The loaf will be browned over. Serve with tomato sauce if desired.

COTTAGE CHEESE SAUSAGE.

Give your husband cottage cheese sausage for breakfast some morning, and see if he doesn't go to business in a good humor. How to make it: One cup cottage cheese, 1 cup dry bread crumbs, or 1/2 cup cold cooked rice, 1/4 cup bread crumbs, 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 cup chopped peanut meats, 1/2 teaspoon powdered sage, 1/2 teaspoon thyme, 1 teaspoon milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon soda or more, 1 tablespoon chopped onion.

Disperse the sausage in milk and work into cheese. Mix all other dry ingredients thoroughly with the bread crumbs. Blend peanut butter and onion with the cheese, and mix with them the bread crumbs. Form into flat cakes and dust with bread crumbs or cornmeal; fry a delicate brown in a little fat in a hot frying pan.

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH CHEESE.

Stretch your scrambled eggs in amount and nourishment this way: For each egg use 1 tablespoon milk, 1-3/4 teaspoon salt, plenty of pepper, 1 egg yolk, 2 tablespoons cottage cheese, pinch of baking soda, fat to grease pan. Mix eggs, seasonings and 1 tablespoonful of milk for each egg. Scramble eggs as usual in greased pan till entirely cooked. Neutralize the curd with a little vinegar, and stir lightly into egg. Serve immediately. Parsley and pimento or chives may be added to the egg.

COTTAGE CHEESE TART.

One and a third cups of cottage cheese, whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff, 1-3 cup of heavy cream, whipped, 3 tablespoons of sugar, 2 teaspoons of lemon juice, few gratings of lemon

BROWNS MAY LOSE LOWE'S MARK FOR BALANCE OF YEAR

Grover's Pitching Arm Badly Swollen; Is Granted Leave to Go Home.

WILL VISIT PHYSICIAN

May Join Club in East—Browns Split With Indians; Another Twin Bill Today.

Grover Cleveland Lowdermilk, whose work with the Browns during the last weeks of the 1917 season and including the fall series with the Cardinals provided the basis for belief that he had at last succeeded in his efforts to stick in the big leagues, may have pitched his last game for the Sportsman's Park aggregation. Whether this assertion is true will be known before the close of the present week.

Pitching great ball up to the eighth inning of the second game with the Indians yesterday, Lowdermilk suddenly wilted, walked two batters and after Wambach's made a double was forced to retire from the game. Last night Business Manager Bob Quinn announced that Lowdermilk's pitching arm was swollen to almost twice its normal size and that he would be out indefinitely.

Ailment Is Persistent.

Lowdermilk has been bothered throughout the season thus far with his arm. After the spring series with the Cardinals, he was forced to visit an osteopath, because his pitching arm became so sore he could not throw a ball. Grover had hoped to become the Browns' mainstay in the box, and had asked Fielder Jones during the spring training trip to be allowed to work every fourth day, or oftener, if the manager desired.

Thus far he has officiated in only 12 games, and has won but two of these. Of the dozen he has started, Lowdermilk has completed but four, and has pitched 72 2/3 innings. He left the city last night to visit his family at Odell, Ill., and from there will go to Youngstown, O., to visit "Bessie" Reese.

If the latter is unable to iron out the kinks in Grover's arm, there is a very good chance that Lowdermilk will not be able to work any more this season. His inability to attain top form has cost the Browns many victories, and, moreover, has resulted in bitter disappointment to Lowdermilk himself, since he had set his heart on making good in the majors this year, after repeated failures.

Mei Gallia, who also is on the ailing list, reported to Bob Quinn last night that he would not be able to play today. However, Gallia's ailment is more serious than at first believed, since he has been confined to bed for the past three days, and is not yet ready to work is not known, but Quinn hopes it will be today, as the Browns are short of pitchers, with another twin bill booked with the Indians.

Loss of Pitchers Hurts.

The series of mishaps in the hurling corps is particularly damaging at this time, since the Browns are showing signs of returning to the form which carried them into the first division on their maiden Eastern trip. The club has not had a winning game since the loss of its two best pitchers, and it is as it should, but is doing decidedly better than in the recent games at home, and would not be a dangerous factor to be reckoned with.

Yesterday they obtained an even break with the Indians, which, considering the fact that Fohl's tribe had previously won four out of five games against the White Sox, is particularly pleasing performance. The Browns played smart baseball in both games, and in the first game, a second contest had Hank Severid come through with a hit in the ninth, as Tim Hendryx won on second waiting to score the tying run.

A ninth-inning rally, in which they drove Guy Morton from the hill and scored three runs, won the first game of the twin bill for the locals. Tom Rogers pitched a neat game in this engagement, faltering only in the sixth, when the visitors put over two runs. An error by Jimmy Austin, however, paved the way for these tallies, hence they should not be chalked against Rogers.

How It Was Won.

Turning into the ninth, the Browns had made but five hits off Morton, one of which was a fluke. Then, after Demmitt had been retired, Hendryx, Gedeon and Nunamaker singled in sequence. Smith was sent up to hit for Johns, and Morton gave way to Coveleskie. Smith hit to Chapman, and Mael, running for Nunamaker, beat Chapman's throw to Wambach at second. Hendryx scoring, a base on balls to Severid, batting for Rogers, forced in Gedeon with the tying run, and Tobin's sacrifice fly to Speaker counted off Mael, with the third and winning marker.

In the second game the Browns put on another rally in the ninth, this time falling short one run of knocking the count. They succeeded, however, in chasing Fritz Coumbe in this session. Jim Bagby finishing the game. Today's double bill with the Indians will begin at 2 o'clock, the time having been advanced because the Cleveland club desires to catch the train for home. Allan Sothoron and Wayne Wright are the most likely hurling choices for the Indians, while Fohl probably will rely on Coveleskie and Bagby. Today will mark the last appearance of the Browns at Sportsman's Park until July 15, as tomorrow is an open date and Friday the locals open a series with the White Sox previous to heading East.

Free-for-All Scramble.

THERE being no law against it, don't see any reason why we shouldn't kick in on this Brown managerial contest. While we do not pretend to have any inside information, we feel confident that the choices between the following gents, namely, to wit: Jimmie Austin, Callahan, Burke and Archer; Joes Tinker, Sugden and Cantillon; Tom Needham, "Kid" Gleason, Hank Weeke, Jack Dunn, Charley Faust, Ed Konetchy, "Christmas" Kehoe, George Creed, Jack Powell, Nick Altrock, Herman Schaefer, "Lord" Byron, William G. McAdoo and "Gloomy Gus" Williams.

There may be other timber lurking somewhere back in the sticks, but we feel that we have covered the field fairly well and will be in a position to spring our scoop at the proper time.

Secretary McAdoo would make an ideal man for the place, having practically nothing to do, but his recent illness may eliminate him as a candidate.

The job of managing the Browns is precarious at the best. Like Chief of Police, it may last for years and it may last for never.

In the meantime, Jimmy McAleer's record of eight years still stands, and the man who beats it will be stepping out at a fairly good clip.

Ruth Now Has 9 Homers for Year; Is Batting .333

Circuit Clout Against Russell Yesterday Came With One Man on the Bases.

George "Babe" Ruth, the slugging pitcher of the Red Sox, added another home run to his total yesterday making it nine for the season. The circuit smash yesterday came against Allen Russell of the Yankees in the first inning with one man on the paths. Ruth played center field and made a single in addition to his circuit smash, giving him a .500 mark for the day. His average for the season is .333, he having made 40 hits in 120 trips to the plate.

Ruth's homers this season have come as follows:

May 4, against Russell of the Yankees.
May 5, against Mordridge of the Yankees.
May 6, against Johnson of the Nationals.
June 2, against Erickson of the Tigers.
June 3, against Daus of the Tigers.
June 4, against Boland of the Tigers.
June 5, against Enzman of the Indians.
June 15, against Davenport of the Browns.
June 25, against Russell of the Yankees.

Red Sox Tame Yankees.

The Red Sox retained first place in the American League marathon yesterday, 7 to 3, with Jones on the hurling hill. Russell and Finneran were clouted safely 10 times, four-run rally in the fourth clinching the game for the pacemakers. Del Pratt had one hit, a triple, to his credit.

Perritt Stops Braves.

"Polly" Perritt, former Cardinal, held the Braves to four hits and the Giants were the winner over Stallions' aggregation, 4-1. Three hits in each the sixth and seventh rounds netted the McGrawmen two tallies against Neff in each of these frames. Burns and Fletcher, with three each, were the batting stars.

Phillies Win Fast Game.

A two-run rally in the ninth inning netted the Phillies a 3-2 victory over the Superbas yesterday in the first game of the twin bill. The game was played in 77 minutes. Two doubles by the winning tallies against the veteran Jack "Countdown" Rogers.

Tigers Tame White Sox.

After pitching good ball for seven innings, Red Russell, the White Sox southpaw, weakened in the eighth, and the Tigers put over three runs, and won, 4-2. In this frame Cunningham singled, went to third on Vito's single and scored on Cobbe hit. A safety by Veach sent over Vito and Cobb. Cunningham pitched good ball, giving seven safeties.

LONDON, June 26.—Col. Arnold Jackson, who has just been awarded the Distinguished Service Order for the third time, will be remembered in the United States as A. N. S. The announcement of his latest military decoration in the official Gazette says: "His battalion was subjected all to an intense bombardment, which caused many casualties. Owing to his powers of command and the spirit he inspired in his men the attack was repulsed. The enemy were driven back with heavy losses and the position completely re-established."

Leonard was the aggressor during most of the fight, but Britton was dangerous at all times, scoring often with a left chop that shook up Leonard when it landed.

Both men weighed in under the stipulated 141 pounds. Leonard was very fast, in fact, as clear as he was a year ago before going to Camp Upton.

Central Net Champion Missing; May Still Be at His Home in Japan

ALL endeavor to locate Kumagae, the little Japanese tennis star, who holds the Central States tennis title and fifth place in United States racket rankings, has thus far come to nothing. Not only has the Triple A received no reply to its inquiries, but investigation shows that the New York firm which once employed Kumagae does not know his whereabouts. The following dispatch from New York was received from the Post-Dispatch's New York bureau today:

"As far as can be learned here, Kumagae is still working for a bank in Japan. He left the Mitsui company here long ago. A member of the firm said he thought Kumagae was not in the United States. Another Japanese firm for which Kumagae had worked also pleaded ignorance, but said Kumagae had been reported to be in Japan."

Kumagae's entry was sought as an added attraction to the Central States championship, which was to be played here on July 6, 7 and 8. Kumagae holds the title and is in possession of the trophy.

Ben Brush Lost Fortune by Nose for Mike Dwyer

Famous Horse's Death Recalls His Defeat by Prince Lief at St. Louis.

The death of the stallion Ben Brush at Lexington, recently called back to mind what was probably the greatest horserace ever run in St. Louis. Joseph A. Murphy who was secretary of the Fairgrounds at the time, yesterday recalled some of the incidents of the race:

"It was in the National Derby of 1895. I had closed the race for the Harlem race track of Chicago and when I accepted the position of secretary here I asked the local directors to take the race over. On the board, at the time, were C. C. Maffitt, Rolla Wells, James Campbell, Gov. Francis Pickens, Moses L. Rumsey, Ed. Walsh, A. B. Ewing and looked like a lot of money for one race, but I finally outtalked them and the race was won."

"I drew a wonderful field. Ben Brush, Prince Lief, Don Chase, Ilio, Ben Edger, Argentina and others. Ben Brush and Prince Lief, however, stood out. Ben Brush was owned by Mike Dwyer, the greatest plunger the turf ever knew."

Prince Lief Sets Pace.

"I recall the race perfectly. Ben Brush, a mere pony in size, warmed up so sore that he could hardly gallop and his backers were in despair. Small as the horse was, he had the heart of a lion. Prince Lief took the track and set a heart-breaking pace, but could never shake off the little build-up of his rival. On the far turn Ben Brush moved up and from there to the wire the greatest struggle in local history was witnessed. 'Soup' Perkins and Jim Simms, two of the greatest negro riders the turf has known, had the mounts."

"Scarcely a great separated the horses during the last quarter of a mile and when they flashed past the wire Prince Lief's muzzle just showed in front of the collar carried 127 pounds each and the race was run over the real Derby distance of a mile and a half. Dwyer's horse was a great performer as the Fair Grounds was not a fast track."

Dwyer Lost a Fortune.

"Mike Dwyer who stood to win a fortune on Ben Brush, was standing on the track under the Judges stand. At the finish he looked up with a smile. 'It was a great horse race,' was his quiet comment."

"A few years afterward he died a pauper and I expect it, he had lost his luck, disgraced with the Judges, and he would still be here. Ben Brush outlived most of the central figures in the race. Bryon McClelland who owned Prince Lief had been dead for some years. John Carter, who was in the stand with me, was still in the Baldwin Hotel at San Francisco. The majority of the old directors are gone, too; but the race itself remains green in the memory of the passing generation."

JAKE BECKLEY, FORMER CARDINAL PLAYER, DEAD

Clout Comes With Three Men on Bases—Cubs Whitewash Knot Hiders, 14-0.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The St. Louis Cardinals were suffering from a maddeningly similar to shell shock when they awoke this morning prepared to offer resistance to the leading and lambasting Cubs. Most of Hendricks' men were unable to tell what happened to them yesterday, except that it was awful, and that the score was 14 to 0 against them.

Bill Sherdelle was the most affected and he was an angry athlete. He asked Hendricks to remove him from the box in the horrible fourth inning, but Jack smiled grimly and kept him under fire. He sent another request in the sixth frame, when the locals scored five runs, and again he was refused.

If Hendricks thought the experience would do his young hurler any good, none of the local experts agreed with him. It convinced everyone the St. Louis hurler can take punishment. There wasn't anything else to do but stand on the hill and dodge. The fourth frame, in which the Cubs scored seven runs, was of most interest to the Cards when they purchased a m. p. papers to get the details of the disaster.

That Horrible Fourth.

Here's what they said: Cubs—Mann popped to Paulett. Merkle doubled to center. Paulett filed to Beall. Deak singled, scoring Merkle, and took third on Heathcote's poor return. Zeider ambled and stole. Killefer was passed, filling the sacks. Sherdelle started a wind-up and the Cubs pulled a triple steal. Tyler walked again, filling the sacks. Pluck lifted a homer over the right field wall, clearing the bases. Hollister doubled and scored on Mann's single. This ended the scoring. It will be noticed all of this occurred after two were out.

The sixth inning, in which the Cubs scored five runs, seemed tame compared to the fourth, but Sherdelle broke into print with a balk. The Cards were so interested in reading what the Cubs did to them they forgot to look up what they didn't do. Three of them discovered they had bases hit, and Don Chase, Ilio, Ben Edger, Argentina and others, with such claims. Lefty Tyler was the Cub hurler, and his weird victory broke his losing streak at three games.

Cardinals Home Tomorrow.

The Cards leave tonight for home, where they open a series with the Pirates tomorrow.

The American Association of Humorists saw yesterday's combat. It is reported it made even the Jokemists smile.

Manager Hendricks has been in communication with his old pals among the local semi-pros, and may have another batch for trial later in the fall. Jack refused to give names, but intimated that the work-or-fight order has no terror for him, as he has been promised enough talent from here to put some sort of a team in the field.

Rogers Hornsby expects to get back in the game today, although his injured finger is still painful. He is needed badly, as Ditzel has been guilty of several lapses.
